Final BULLETINS

Bomb Huge Dam In North Italy

NAPLES (AP)—Allied fighter-bombers hit a huge dam in northern Italy today.

Kittyhawks and Mustangs dive-bombed and broke the great Pescara Dam, 12 miles southwest of Chieti, the Tactical Air Force announced tonight.

Twenty minutes after the first Mustang had cracked the iron sluice gates, a wall of water was moving downstream toward Pescara, airmen said.

It was one mile from the dam and was followed by high waves.

Simultaneous with the dam cracking, heavy bombers again attacked the Ploesti railyards in Romania and struck at Severin, Romania, on the famous Iron Gate of the Danube.

Island Soldiers Home

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pte. C. S. Savory of Chemainus and Pte. W. T. Wilson of Victoria were among several wounded soldiers who arrived here today aboard a C.P.R. hospital train.

Release Gandhi As Health Fails

LONDON (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, the 75-year-old Indian leader, will be released from internment tomorrow morning.

A statement issued tonight simultaneously in London and India said:

"In view of medical reports on Mr. Gandhi's health, the government of India have decided to release him unconditionally. This decision has been taken solely on medical grounds.

"The release will take place at 8 a.m., May 6."

Bush Fire Fatal

EDMONTON (CP) — Serious bush fires swept a wide area of Alberta today from the tinder-dry bushland northeast of Calgary to the Slave Lake district, about 150 miles north of Edmonton. One death has been reported. A son of Joe Kline of Webster, a northern town.

Indicted As Spy

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Velvalee Dickinson, 50-year-old doll shop operator, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of acting as a spy in the interests of Japan. Bail was fixed at $25,000 by Judge William Bondy, who set June 5 for trial. The maximum penalty under the indictment is death.

Grimm to Run Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Grimm, after a telephone conversation with Phil K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, today said he had agreed to become Cub manager and "all that remains to be done is to sign the contract."

Bomb Paramushiro

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. navy bombers plastering Paramushiro in the north Pacific Kurile Islands set large fires and caused explosions with bomb hits at that base on Wednesday night, it was announced this afternoon.

End Oil Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Crerar announced in the Commons this afternoon that the U.S. is withdrawing from an oil exploratory program in the Northwest Territories, but continued examination of the prospective oil-bearing areas by other interests will be facilitated by the Canadian government.

Body in Trunk

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nearly nude body, salt-packed, and bound with strips of torn sheet, was found today in a trunk that arrived at the Railway Express office here Thursday night from Chicago.

Wilby In Nanaimo, Maitland Orders Him Back to City

Provincial police officers, acting on instructions of Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, today in Nanaimo picked up Ralph M. Wilby, alias Douglas A. Hume, wanted on 17 grand larceny charges in New York and who was taken away from the courthouse Wednesday afternoon by U.S. police officials.

Chief Justice Farris had refused application of Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., and W. H. M. Haldane for writ of habeas corpus, and while the two lawyers were waiting for a second writ Wilby was taken away from the courthouse.

"I don't think any responsible U.S. official would countenance this hide-and-go-seek procedure," said Mr. Maitland today. "It must be clearly understood that while we in Canada are only too anxious to co-operate with the United States in extradition matters, there can be no such thing as quick action in order to avoid a fair and proper hearing before a Canadian judge."

As soon as it was learned Wilby was in Nanaimo, Mr. Haldane and Inspector Robert Owens of the Provincial Police left for the up-island city and will bring Wilby back to appear before Mr. Justice Macfarlane.

DID NOT GO TO SEATTLE

Impression first was that the attorneys had taken Wilby on the 4.30 Thursday steamer to Seattle. At 5, however, Wilby was reported seen at the police station in Saanich, but left a few minutes later.

Mr. Haldane today made a full report on the affair to the Attorney-General. He said that at 3.30 Thursday Chief Justice Farris intimated he was going to dismiss the application of Haldane and Wismer for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Haldane said he had previously acquired knowledge that Wilby was going to be removed as quickly as possible after first adjudication of the Chief Justice. This was mentioned by Mr. Wismer to the Chief Justice, who said he could not believe it.

The Chief Justice said he would adjourn the case until 4 to give Mr. Wismer and Mr. Haldane a chance to consider their position. Mr. Haldane, Mr. Wismer and Claude L. Harrison, representing the District Attorney of New York, with two U.S. officials, Hunter and Gasarch, both New York attorneys, all went before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane. Mr. Harrison took the technical point that Mr. Justice Macfarlane could not hear a subsequent application until the order had been made dismissing the first application. It was arranged that Mr. Justice Macfarlane should wait until the Chief Justice had delivered his judgment.

APPLICATION DISMISSED

At 4 they went before the Chief Justice. He dismissed the application. One of the American officials, with the assistance of a Victoria constable, according to Mr. Haldane's report to the Attorney-General, started out of the room with the prisoner. Mr. Haldane advised the constable he wished to talk to his client, but that he would go to see Mr. Justice Macfarlane first. Wilby and the constable continued out and Mr. Haldane called down the stairway, whereupon the Victoria constable came back and conversed with Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Haldane then went to Mr. Justice Macfarlane who made an order for a fresh writ. When Mr. Haldane came out, Wilby had been removed from the courthouse, Mr. Haldane said. Mr. Haldane then went with deputy sheriff, Eric Wilkinson, to the steamer leaving for Seattle at 4.30.

The U.S. immigration official refused to let Mr. Wilkinson on the boat, Mr. Haldane said. Mr. Haldane then said to the officer: "Have you the impudence to suggest that you have any right to prevent a sherriff's officer going on a Canadian boat in a Canadian port to effect a process of the Supreme Court of British Columbia?" The oficer is reported by Mr. Haldane to have said. "You can go on the boat, but Wilby is not on the boat."

NOT IN CABINS

Mr. Wilkinson went aboard and was informed by the captain that U.S. immigration officers would have a full list of passengers. Mr. Wilkinson checked with the purser's office for cabins. He found only two taken, but neither in the names of the wanted persons. He looked about the steamer, but could not see them. He came off and was again informed by the U.S. immigration officer that Wilby was not on the boat. Later a city police officer came off the ship, and, according to Mr. Haldane, in the presence of three witnesses, said Wilby was on the steamer in cabin 265. By that time the ship was pulling out.

Mr. Haldane received a tip Thursday evening that Wilby and the attorneys had been seen in Saanich at 5.

Chief Bull today confirmed that they had been in the Saanich police station at 5, but he was not there.

Allied Planes Ravage Europe Almost at Will

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON (AP) — U.S. heavy bombers pounded the "invasion coast" of France again today in a pre-breakfast blow, and then Allied medium and fighter-bombers and fighters took over the 21st consecutive day of the relentless pre-invasion bombing of Europe with attacks on rail lines feeding Hitler's so-called Atlantic Wall.

Not a plane was lost in the several hundred sorties flown today.

The Berlin radio said Allied Mediterranean bombers were over Romania this afternoon after Thursday night's R.A.F. raid on Budapest in Hungary, but the report of the daylight attack had not been confirmed by Allied headquarters.

The American bombers were out so early they passed homeward bound British Mosquitoes which had made the swift night attacks on the western Reich and returned without loss.

The R.C.A.F. announced that Canadian planes Thursday night laid mines in enemy waters and all the aircraft returned safely. Neither were any Canadian planes lost in Thursday's daylight operations, which included the bombing of key Nazi military targets in France and the Netherlands by Allied bombers of all types.

Fighter-bombers of the 9th U.S. air force attacked rail yards at Valenciennes and Somain in northern France under escort of Thunderbolt fighters. Once again the Germans failed to put up even token resistance. Flak was only moderate. Returning pilots said not a single Nazi fighter was seen in the moderate overcast skies.

A Middle East communique reported recent attacks on German shipping and airdromes in Crete, the Aegean Islands and the Greek harbor of Monemvasia.

Collusion Charged In Shipyard Row

VANCOUVER (CP) — Garry Culhane, president of Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union Local No. 2, Victoria, today charged there is "collusion" between William McKinstry, Regional Selective Service Director, and the management of Yarrows shipyard at Victoria.

"We are informed today that Mr. McKinstry has refused to act in the layoff situation at Yarrows," said Mr. Culhane. "This is a case of absolute collusion and leaves us no alternative but to take the matter up with Ottawa."

G. G. McGeer's Son Prisoner of Nazis

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sgt. M. G. McGeer, previously reported missing over enemy territory, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his mother, Mrs. G. G. McGeer, was advised today. His father is G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard. Sgt. McGeer went overseas with the R.C.A.F. a year ago.

Premier Hart Signs $7,000,000 Bond

Premier John Hart, as Minister of Finance, today signed a $7,000,000 application for a Victory Bond for the people of British Columbia.

It will be the biggest bond in B.C. in the present campaign and brings this province's investments in Victory Bonds up to $43,000,000, the highest of any province in Canada.

The government is earmarking this sum for use in the postwar era, to tide over the upset of demobilization and to provide needed public works.

Members of the special names committee of the Victory Loan organization called on the Premier in his office at the Parliament Buildings with the application. Those who watched the Premier sign were Senator G. H. Barnard, F. E. Winslow, J. W. Ruggles and H. H. Henderson.

Douks to Go Home

VANCOUVER (CP)—The band of 28 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, who arrived here Sunday to plead for release of 13 of their "brothers" jailed on nudity convictions, said today they intend going home soon.

"Now we have presented our case we will likely go back to Krestova and report to our people," said a spokesman.

He's Coming

If you have not yet been called upon by a Victory Loan Adviser, don't imagine that you have been overlooked. He's coming, and we bespeak for him the welcome and the hearing to which he is clearly entitled. But if by any chance you SHOULD be missed, please don't let that deter you from doing your part or grasping the opportunity to share in Canada's best and safest investment. Call your local War Finance H.Q. for immediate and grateful response.

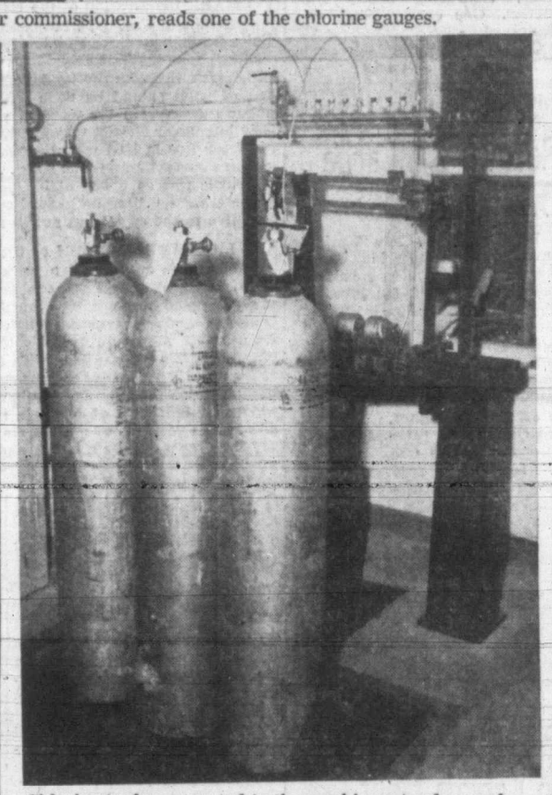
Machines Fine As Clocks Chlorinate Water

G. M. Irwin, water commissioner, reads one of the chlorine gauges.



Chlorine tanks connected to the machines stand on scales.

By DAVE DRIVER

Gaseous chlorine is being fed into Greater Victoria's water supply today at a rate of three pounds of chlorine to 5,000 tons of water by four ultra-modern chlorination machines as finely constructed and as exact as good timepieces.

The chlorination, which is coupled with ammoniation, is done entirely automatically. Two separate machines self-regulate the impregnation to the flow in the mains which supply up to 21,000,000 gallons of water daily to the 100,000 users of city water in the Greater Victoria area.

The flow of chlorine and ammonia into the water is at all times recorded on charts by instruments similar to recording thermometers or barometers, while other gauges show how much chemical is being added at the moment an observer casts his eye on the machine. The weight of chlorine used every 24 hours is also checked.

At first the chlorination machine was adjusted to introduce only one pound of chlorine into 1,000,000 pounds of water, but since that time the chlorination has been increased gradually to three parts, which is the maximum so far. Cities with less pure water use up to five times as much chlorine to kill bacteria.

In the six weeks chlorination has been effected, it is doubtful whether chlorinated water has reached every home in the Greater Victoria area for the draw-off in some areas is very small.

Thursday afternoon I saw the chlorination machinery in action at Humpback reservoir.

MUST HAVE PERMIT

To enter the watershed area requires first a recommendation from G. M. Irwin, city engineer and water commissioner, then approval of the City Council, and finally a written permit from the city health officer. To get the permit requires a blood-test and medical examination.

Less than a dozen persons have visited the Victoria watershed since the start of the war. Chlorination has not relaxed the difficulty of securing a permit to visit the source of Greater Victoria's water.

Nor has chlorination reduced the protection given the watershed and watermains. Both Japan Gulch and Humpback are guarded 24 hours a day. Each guard is a combined game warden, watchman and policeman, armed with a revolver.

The huge main, which feeds water into the Humpback reservoir from Sooke lake, 38 miles away, is patrolled on unique main tricycles.

The separate chlorination room exhibits almost as many dials and gauges as the cockpit of a bomber, sounds like a ship's engineroom, smells like a laboratory and is as neat and clean as a hospital operating room.

The machines themselves are a maze of gauges, valves, glass vacuum chambers and silver, rubber and iron pipes, some of which have been painted different colors so they can be identified by engineers.

In the machine the chlorine is exposed to water forced up the main by an electric pump in the basement. This water impregnated with chlorine, is then fed into the water main. Ammonia is introduced into the water the same way.

No reports are available yet on what effect chlorination has had on the water supply. The bacterial count will obviously be lowered considerably and Mr. Irwin hopes the chlorine will thwart the growth of a pipe-moss, which, while not harmful to humans, has caused endless trouble in clogging water meters.

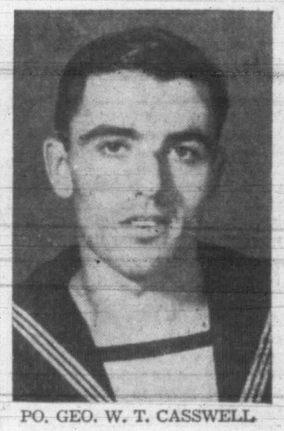
The machines were installed by Wallace and Tiernan, manufacturers. After acceptance by A. H. Perry of the Department of Pensions and National Health, and the city officials, the machines will be operated by the city for the federal government for the duration of the war. After the war the fate of chlorination will be decided by the City Council.

Survivors Tell How Stubbs Sang Awaiting Rescue

By ALLAN NICKLESON

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian destroyer skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. J. H. Stubbs, D.S.O., of Victoria, B.C., clung to a Carley float and calmly sang "A Ballad of the Wavy Navy" and cheered his men after their ship, the Athabaskan, had been sunk early last Saturday in an English Channel engagement, survivors revealed today.

Fate of the commander, who watched his chance of rescue, disappear into the pre-dawn darkness after an engagement between H.M.C.S. Haida, the Athabaskan and two German destroyers is unknown. It is considered possible, however, that he was among the 85 survivors the Germans claimed to have taken prisoners after the engagement which also resulted in the beaching of a German destroyer of the new Elbing class.



PO. GEO. W. T. CASSWELL.

HANDS BURNED

The captain "was singing and talking and got the rest of us to sing," said Leading Cook Alfred Richardson, West Dover, N.S., one of six survivors of the Athabaskan who reached London today. Richardson said he thought the skipper's hands were burned but said that didn't seem to bother him.

Survivors also brought the story of the 100-mile dash to Britain by a motor cutter from the Haida with her three-man crew and three survivors.

The cutter, manned by LS. W. McClure and Sto. William Cummings of Toronto and AB. Jack Hannam of Victoria, B.C., was launched after the blazing Athabaskan had sunk stern first during an engagement early Saturday with two German destroyers, one of which the Nazis were forced to beach.

They rescued six men, including two of the Haida's crew who had been washed overboard before the destroyer headed for Britain, survivors related today. Three of the rescued men made the trip to Britain in the cutter and the others were taken aboard the Haida.

LANDED IN ENGLAND

The three men taken to Britain in the cutter were: PO. George Casswell, 3417 Seymour Avenue, Victoria, formerly of Toronto; Sgmn. Tom Eady of Welland, Ont., and AB. Andre Audet, Montreal.

The other survivors, who were with them today and had been picked up by the Haida, were: Leading Cook Alfred Richardson, West Dover, N.S.; L.Sgmn. Ray Chadsey, Vancouver, and ERA. William Howard of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Rescue at sea is no new story for Jack Hannam, 20-year-old Victoria boy, whose mother, Mrs. W. Hirst, lives on the Albert Head Road.

Early in 1943 he was aboard H.M.C.S. Camrose, which saved the lives of 129 merchant seamen from a torpedoed freighter after being credited with sinking a U-boat.

He spent a furlough here with his mother last summer and since then has been with the Haida.

When she learned of her boy's part in the Athabaskan rescue, Mrs. Hirst said excitedly: "Oh, isn't that lovely. Anything my boy could do, I know he would do it."

Ship Gets Its 3 Loudspeakers

Victorians lost no time responding to Thursday's appeal for three extra loudspeakers for H.M.C.S. Beacon Hill, Victoria's own warship.

Today R. H. Pooley's committee to outfit the ship with extra comforts, received funds for purchase of these speakers needed for the ERA's, stoker petty officers' and stewards' messes.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian War Effort Association donated funds for one speaker.

Mrs. R. H. Pooley sent a cheque for another.

Thomas Welch, 434 Simcoe Street, veteran sailor and retired contractor, gave the money needed for the third speaker. Mr. Welch joined the Royal Navy in 1884, serving for four years, part of that time in the Mediterranean before being invalided home to England. He was a member of the crew of H.M.S. Hector, Queen Victoria's guard ship, and also served in H.M.S. Active, flag ship of the Flying Squadron.

Other gifts and cash subscriptions continued to come in from all parts of the city.

A radio-gramophone is needed to relay broadcasts and recordings to all parts of the ship. Who will give this?

Will anyone send the ship an electro-lux? This is needed for cleaning the cabins and wardroom.

Mrs. R. J. Stewart gave seven packs of playing cards.

Miss M. Stewart, 3611 Quadra Street, donated two jigsaw puzzles.

From Mrs. C. H. Harrison, 1682 Beach Drive, came an electric hot plate, a chess board, set of chessmen, six packs of playing cards.

Today's cash subscriptions to the canteen fund were as follows:

Street Electric Railwaymen's Social Club	$ 5.60
Mrs. R. J. Stewart	2.00
Daughters of St. George, Lodge 83	10.00
Capital City Temple 35, Pythian Sister	10.00
Women's Benefit Assoc., Queen Alexandra Review	15.00

Kay McIntyre, acting secretary, Pooley Committee for H.M.C.S. Beacon Hill Fund, Victoria Times editorial department, telephone B 3131, is receiving and acknowledging all subscriptions.

Claim Mihailovic Loyal

LONDON (CP)—The information office of the Yugoslav government denied today assertions by the followers of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) that Gen. Draja Mihailovic has been fighting on the side of the Germans against the Yugoslav Partisan army. On the contrary, the information service said, the German high command has placed a price of 100,000 gold marks on Mihailovic's head.

Jap Fleet Head, Admiral Koga, Killed at Front

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tokyo radio announced today that Admiral Mineichi Koga, commander of the Japanese Combined Fleet, had been killed on active duty, less than a year after his predecessor, Admiral Isorotu Yamamoto, had met a similar death.

A broadcast recorded by U.S. government monitors quoted an imperial headquarters communique as saying that Koga had "died at his post in March of this year while directing general operations from an airplane at the front."

The wording of the communique bore a striking similarity to a Tokyo communique of May 21, 1943, announcing Yamamoto's death in a warplane the previous April "while directing general strategy on the front line."

NOT BRILLIANT

Koga, who was 59, had generally been regarded as a sound but not brilliant naval officer noted for tenacity rather than for his initiative. He lacked the reputation of his predecessor, who was known as the man who torpedoed the London Naval Conference in 1934, planned the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and once boasted he would dictate terms in the White House.

Before reaching head of the combined fleet Koga had served as commander of the Yokosuka naval station and before that as commander of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters. He also had been vice-chief of the naval staff 1934-37 and was naval attache at the Japanese embassy in Paris in 1926.

He already has been succeeded as commander of the combined fleet, Tokyo said, by 58-year-old Admiral Soemu Toyoda, commander of the Yokosuka naval station. Admiral Zengo Yoshida, heretofore in command of the Japanese fleet in Chinese waters, has taken over the Yokosuka command, the broadcast added.

Koga has been honored posthumously by Emperor Hirohito, who has promoted him to the honorary rank of fleet admiral and awarded him "the First Class Order of the Golden Kite and the Grand Cordon of the Rising Sun with paulownia flowers," Tokyo said.

The Japanese radio Nov. 10, 1943, said Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo and Tadahiko Okada, speaker of the Japanese House of Representatives, had congratulated Koga and other naval commanders for having obtained "overwhelming sea and air victories."

This announcement coincided with Japanese broadcasts which claimed that in a 10-day period 96 Allied vessels had been sunk or damaged and more than 269 planes shot down—a sweeping propaganda claim which never was confirmed by the Allies.

The Tokyo radio's announcement of the death of Yamamoto was received at the time by U.S. naval officers in Washington with some skepticism.

Some authorities suggested that Yamamoto had been identified with so many Japanese reverses that he might have committed hara-kiri or he might have died a natural death.

In the event either of these constituted the true reason, it was said, the Japanese high command almost certainly would have dressed up Yamamoto's death with fitting circumstances and glowing tribute in order to maintain his stature as a hero before the Japanese people.

26 New Decorations For Men in Italy

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department announced today that 26 new decorations to Canadian soldiers for valor in the Italian campaign have been approved by the King.

The King also has granted unrestricted permission for the wearing of the United States Silver Star.

Citations to the awards are not yet available from the battlefield, but the awards include:

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER

Maj. Drayton Ernest Walker, Saskatoon, Canadian Infantry Corps.

Mid-East Fliers Support Russians By Budapest Raid

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NAPLES (AP) — R.A.F. four-engined Halifaxes and twin-engined Wellingtons from Italy struck a sharp blow Thursday night in support of Russian ground forces by attacking Budapest, capital of Hungary, it was announced today.

Fighting their way through a screen of German night fighters, the British bombers poured block-busters and incendiaries on Budapest's Rakos rail yards on the main east-west line from Germany and Vienna to the Romanian front.

Two violent explosions and many fires were observed.

The Budapest attack followed up a raid the night before on rail yards in Bucharest, capital of Romania, by British Halifaxes, Liberators and Wellingtons.

Although bad visibility hampered operations in daylight Thursday, medium bombers attacked rail bridges at Grosetto, Albino, Toree and Fabriano—all in Italy—and fighter-bombers hit rail communications at Terni, Sulmona and in the areas northeast and south of Rome, the bulletin said.

Four Allied aircraft were reported missing from all operations, embracing about 1,100 sorties. One enemy plane was destroyed.

Ground activity in Italy again was limited to artillery fire and patrol activity, the communique said.

Recover Big Cache Of Stolen Goods

VANCOUVER (CP)—A private investigator and his pretty stenographer were in custody of police today, held for investigation following the recovery of a cache of stolen goods valued at approximately $10,000 in the attic of a store adjoining a house occupied by them on suburban Lulu Island.

John B. Hunter, 23, was charged with retaining stolen property, police said.

In the loot recovered were huge quantities of women's and men's clothing, 89 liquor ration coupon books, 54 national registration cards, 10 U.S. social security cards, equipment for altering registration cards, food coupon books, army and navy discharge papers, liquor seals, some used and some new, War Savings Certificates, postage stamps, money order blanks, tires and automotive equipment of all kinds.

British Gaining In Kohima Fight

KANDY, Ceylon (CP-Reuters)—British troops attacking at all points around the India frontier base of Kohima are making satisfactory progress and inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese, a communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters said today. Chinese troops in north Burma captured Inkangahtawng Wednesday, the communique added.

In the mountains east of Mogaung Chinese units succeeded in driving into Japanese positions at Kauri.

Meanwhile, Allied air forces, stepping up the intensity of their attacks, heavily raided Mandalay, old capital of Burma and Japanese supply centre, as well as a number of other important railway junctions.

The communique said railway yards at Maymyo as well as road bridges at Natkyigon and Hpaungzeik and a depot northwest of Tonzang also were raided.

There was Charles H., the grandfather, veteran of the First Great War; Harold H., the father, also a veteran of the last war, and Harold, the son, now in the uniform of His Majesty's forces . . . Jack Williams, veteran of the last war and father of a sailor son, CPO. Dick Williams, seemed to yearn a little for his hometown and the Lancashire mills as he told of a visit his son made there. Dick, in company of his aunt, visited one of the mills he had heard about from his dad. There were some changes. Mostly old women are working in them now in place of the Lancashire lasses. Dick was touched after his visit to find these elderly ladies had clubbed together to provide him a few of the luxuries a sailor appreciates when he is at sea . . . Penicillin, the far-famed drug flown to Victoria this week to be used in an attempt to save the life of a Victoria woman, has a very humble origin. It is excreted in the life processes of the common bread and cheese mold "Penicillium notatum" after which it is named. Its therapeutic value was first established some four years ago by an English doctor and, since then, has done much to replace the sulfa drugs which often have an unfavorable reaction on many people.

TO MARK the invasion of the Netherlands, May 10, Netherlanders throughout Canada, will donate blood on that day at Red Cross clinics throughout the Dominion . . . Canadians are building up their wealth. In the last year they increased their bank savings deposits, $335,874,000 to make the total $2,225,417,000 . . . H. Burnett has his idea of what should be done with the Doukhobors of B.C. The longer they remain the more of a nusiance they become, he says. They left under Czarist tyranny 40 years ago. Now there is a new and freer Russia that would probably welcome them back to some spot in that vast empire, he says . . . Traffic Patrolman J. M. Butler of Seattle was so proud of his new daughter that he handed out the cigars every time he handed out a traffic ticket. "People were receptive to the cigars but not so much to the tickets," he said . . .

MAJ. OSCAR ERICKSON of the Prisoner-of-War Relatives Association is advocating a clothing allowance for ex-servicemen of $125 instead of $65 and one month's pay for every six months of service paid in monthly payments like a pay cheque . . . Canadian Legion, Canadian Corps Association, has passed a resolution for a $50 a month minimum for all veterans of World War I and World War II eligible for pensions with allowances for dependents on top of the $50. It proposes the pension be apart from any other money, income or job the veteran may have and that it be continued to the widow on the basis of a single man's pension when the veteran dies . . . As veterans of the last war, the members of the association say the proposal is on a father and son basis as most of them have sons in this war.

2 Victorians Win Air Force Awards For Heroic Action

OTTAWA (CP)—Acts of gallantry by individuals and entire air crews and the exceptional performance of every-day flying duties were recognized in a long list of awards to R.C.A.F. personnel announced today by Air Force headquarters.

All those honored were in Canada or attached to units in the North American area.

Award winners include:

D.F.C.

PO. D. G. Bush, Kelowna, B.C.; Flt. Lt. G. R. Harland, Treherne, Man.; Wing Cmdr. S. D. Turner, Montreal, formerly of 131 Olive Street, Victoria.

A.F.C.

FO. Eli Rosenbaum, Winnipeg; FO. C. A. Dickson, Edmonton; WO. W. J. Duncan, Stone, Sask.; Sqdn. Ldr. J. S. Howden, Norwood, Man.; Flt. Lt. G. D. Jeffrey, Vancouver; FO. Joseph Patton, Midnapore, Alta.

B.E.M.

Cpl. W. W. Riglin, Saltcoats, Sask.; Sgt. R. R. Barker, Victoria.

MENTION IN DISPATCHES

Sgt. S. S. Archer, Broadview, Sask.; PO. J. A. Banks, Forestburg, Alta.; WO2. C. J. Carter, Silverdale, B.C.; H. W. Kostiuk, Redwater, Alta.; WO. F. J. Patterson, Edberg, Alta.; Cpl. E. A. Trethewey, Haney, B.C.; FO. R. H. Burrage, Burnaby, B.C.; FO. J. H. Bain, Medicine Hat, Alta.

COMMENDATION

FO. C. E. Dore, Kelowna, B.C.; Flt. Lt. S. L. Bowhay, Three Hills, Alta.; PO. W. C. Chrismas, Vancouver.

Sgt. Baker's citation read: "This noncommissioned officer showed remarkable courage and daring, with total disregard for his personal safety, when, on Feb. 4, last, after being thrown from a crashed aircraft which immediately caught fire, he rushed into the flames in an endeavor to save the life of the pilot, stunned by the impact.

"After his first attempt he was seriously burned and driven back by flames. His courage and initiative instigated rescue action by the civilian onlookers, with the result the pilot was rescued from burning to death."

Wing Cmdr. Sydney Desmond Turner is a son of the late Sydney Turner, first Great War veteran, and Mrs. Isabel Turner, who formerly lived at 131 Olive Street, Victoria.

The flier attended Sir James Douglas School and was a Times carrier boy before joining the R.C.A.F. He was pilot for the late Sir Frederick Banting, being assigned to convoy work about a month before the famous scientist was killed in a crash at Newfoundland.

Judgment Awaited

VANCOUVER (CP) — Judgment was reserved in the B.C. Supreme Court here Thursday in the suit of Mrs. Amanda Pearl Yule, 22, for $15,000 damages for the loss of her upper teeth which allegedly were extracted in Penticton Hospital while she was under an anaesthetic for a tonsillectomy.

Mrs. Yule is suing Dr. J. Robert Parmley, surgeon, and Dr. T. Fred Parmley, his dentist brother, both of Penticton.

Mrs. Yule had consented to the extraction of two back upper teeth, to be removed while she was under ether for the removal of her tonsils.

6th Victory Loan Makes Up Ground As 10th Day Starts

OTTAWA (CP) — The $1,200,000,000 Sixth Victory Loan sales leaped $12,000,000 ahead of the Fifth Loan total for the same period Thursday when Canadians purchased $73,115,950 worth of bonds for a cumulative total of $714,984,750, loan officials announced today.

While figures in this loan had twice before been above the Fifth Loan, the gain was not held, and Thursday morning, when salesmen started their 10th day of canvassing, the loan was down approximately $2,000,000 from what the Fifth was six months ago. The total on the same day of the last loan was approximately $703,000,000, while Thursday's sales compared with a total of $59,840,100 on the same day six months ago.

Of Thursday's total, $32,752,900 came from the individual purchasers. This brought their purchases for the first 10 days of the loan to $292,635,750.

Larger buyers bought $40,363,050 in bonds Thursday, highlighted by a $17,500,000 purchase by the Canadian Pacific Railway. This raised the total of larger purchases to $422,349,000 or 54.2 per cent of what was raised in the last loan.

POWELL RIVER SALES

Adding to amounts purchased by labor organizations, the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers at Powell River, B.C., bought bonds totaling $50,000 while the 1,018 employees of Pacific Mills at Ocean Falls, B.C., have reached their $130,000 quota with the canvass still continuing.

Edmonton reported applications made in one day of 1,286 for $267,600. Since the beginning of the campaign, Edmontonians have produced 12,224 applications for bond sales of $2,738,100. This represents 53.7 per cent of objective.

SASKATCHEWAN HIGH

Saskatchewan has reached 75 per cent of its objective of $20,150,000. Up to noon Thursday 55,869 buyers had contributed a total of $14,721,750 toward the provincial objective.

Forty-one units in Alberta were now over the top. At halfway mark, Nova Scotia had 57.5 per cent of its combined general sales and payroll objective.

The armed service total of $35,338,600 includes $3,967,550 from the navy; $19,232,550 from the army, and $12,138,500 from the air force.

A signal from the corvette named after Kamloops, B.C., said the ship's personnel was 77 per cent above quota, while that named after Chilliwack, B.C., had bought $5,750 on a quota of $3,500.

In a letter to his father at Chilliwack, Lieut. Ed Bradish told how the paymaster of his regiment had sold bonds to Canadian troops, under cover of darkness, while 500 yards from the German lines and while being subjected to heavy mortar fire.

50,000 Men, 18½, To Be Available For Armed Services Every Year

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA (CP) — The pool from which Canada draws her manpower supplies for the armed forces is sinking to the point where youths reaching 18½ years of age will form the main source of supply, Labor Minister Mitchell told the Commons Thursday.

"I think when we are through with essential industry we are at the end of the road, except for those just coming of age," the minister said in reply to questions from Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, during continued debate on the Labor Department's war estimates.

"I do not want to inject the theme of conscription into this debate, but I think it is fair to say that without conscription this country is as well organized as any country on the side of the United Nations—and let us be clear about that," said Mr. Mitchell.

100,000 Reach Age For Service Yearly

About 100,000 young men reached military age each year and the minister said he could guess that about 50,000 of these would be available for compulsory military service under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Mr. Green said he thought only a small number could be called in the older age groups and he wondered if the government proposed to call men into the service at 18 years rather than 18½.

Mr. Mitchell replied he could not tell what the future would bring. Men were called at 18 in the United States. However, he believed no more persons could be taken from the farms if necessary foodstuffs were to be provided. Men would also have to be kept in basic industries.

More compulsory labor tranfer orders could be expected to move men from non-essential industry into essential jobs. Seven such order already has been issued.

Committee to Aid In Trade Policy

The manpower debate, which occupied most of the House's sitting, was preceded by an announcement that an inter-departmental external trade advisory committee had been established to assist prompt decisions on trade policy during wartime by facilitating discussions among departments.

The announcement was made by Justice Minister St. Laurent, acting Secretary for State, who said the Mutual Aid Board, the Prices Board, the Foreign Exchange Control Board as well as several departments were represented on the committee, which would study export and import trade matters and supplies available for trade.

Earlier first reading was given to a bill concerned with the establishment of an Air Transport Board. Transport Minister Michaud said the bill was a companion bill for a measure that will provide for taking control of commercial air services from the Board of Transport Commissioners. The new board would operate separately under the Transport Department.

Hangs at Lethbridge

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP — A young German prisoner of war who committed suicide by hanging himself with a lariat rope on a farm northeast of Vauxhall Wednesday afternoon was buried here this morning.

He was one of a number of Germans attached to the local prisoner of war camp who had been working and living on farms in the Vauxhall district, it was learned from military officials.

The German, about 22 or 23 years old, was working on a farm about four miles north and six miles east of Vauxhall. After lunch Wednesday he left the farm house, presumably to resume his duties.

When he failed to turn up for supper, the farmer went looking for his worker and found him dead and hanging on a rope in the hay loft of the barn.

Residents of the district said the young man had been despondent and depressed recently.

Next of kin will be advised by the International Red Cross.

London Papers Anxious For 'Single Voice' Policy

By GRANT DEXTER
Victoria Times Correspondent

LONDON — (Special Cable) — Publicity in the British press on the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference here is somewhat fulsome and often gingeristic. After careful study of the two days' Commons' debate on Commonwealth unity, of editorial opinion of British newspapers and after the benefit of such official information as is available, it seems more than probable that the conference will not go beyond a general consultation and exchange of views. It is unlikely there will be any decisions, agreements or commitments, and official statements following the meeting are almost certain to be barren of facts.

Reasons for this are as follows: This is a meeting of prime ministers, not an Imperial conference. There is no agenda, but rather a list of points for discussion. The chief points of this are: First, the immediate war situation; second, the future conduct of the war in the world sense; third, arrangements for world settlement and security, and the postwar policy, including such matters as transportation, migration, tariffs, defence, and education; fourth, the Commonwealth organization. On the first two no public statement is possible, and on the third there has already been much negotiation and nothing beyond a further exchange of views is regarded as practicable. On the fourth, there appears not the slightest chance of any agreement.

VIEWS DIFFER WIDELY

Two points regarding the Commonwealth organization are of interest. The British press has played up this aspect almost to the exclusion of all else. There is a wide variation in treatment.

On the extreme right, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express and the London Daily Mail are taking a jingo line. Wednesday the Express proclaimed that the prime ministers are actually planning the machinery of centralization.

The Daily Mail asserted that a single voice foreign policy has been approved. There is no truth in either report.

Other papers, including the London Times, have presented much more objective news columns, but editorially all reveal the keenest desire for some kind of Commonwealth institution representative of unity in foreign policy. But while they all talk of effort there's no effort to define its meaning.

NOT PLAINLY STATED

None even tried to reduce unity to terms of actuality, either with respect to institutions or policies.

There is a great yearning for unity, but no awareness that unity must find expression in particular questions or problems and an actual institution of some kind or other.

Many newspapers, although by no means all, are aware that the Halifax speech got a critical reception in Canada. But, again, there is no evidence of any effort to understand Canada's viewpoint.

Papers note that somehow, many people in Canada, including the government, do not agree with Halifax. They greatly regret this, and hope that it is all some misunderstanding which, like morning mist, will clear away. There are notable exceptions of which the Manchester Guardian is the chief.

The Guardian has repeatedly shown a complete understanding of the Canadian viewpoint. The London Spectator is another.

U.S. Speeds Output Of New Rocket Gun

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces have developed a new rocket gun which is in such "great demand" that $35,000,000 is to be spent by the U.S. on further refinements and production.

This was disclosed today in a House of Representative naval affairs committee report recommending a $65,000,000 appropriation for ordnance manufacture.

Included was a statement from the navy revealing the proposed expansion of work on rocket-propelled weapons.

No clues were given as to the nature of the devices, but the navy said in the report that $15,000,000 of the proposed $65,000,000 allocation is needed "because of the new technique required for the new propellant now in great demand."

ACROSS THE PACIFIC, TOO?

THESE ARE DAYS WHEN WE SHALL have to keep our eyes on the Pacific as well as on Western Europe.

Since the Casablanca conference between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt in January, 1943, Hitler has been definitely established as the Allies' No. 1 enemy, with the Japanese taking second place so far as a real offensive operation was concerned. The fight against Japan was to remain a defensive-offensive operation. General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey, commander in the South Pacific, were to receive only sufficient men and material to conduct their part of the global war on that basis.

Now, however, with the offensive against the Japanese running ahead of schedule, new and heavy assaults are being envisioned. There is speculation on the possibility of a stepped-up drive toward the Philippines or the Kurile Islands coinciding with the forthcoming Allied invasion of Western Europe.

This possible blow at the Japanese may take the form of a strike at the Philippines, or it may reach to the north and lead on the Kuriles, Tokyo's important holdings southeast of the Russian mainland. It is recalled that Navy Secretary Knox said shortly before his death that the Kuriles would be invaded by American forces, but he did not say when. It could well be that the late Secretary was thinking of an early attack tieing up with the cross-channel assault on Europe.

Most of the recent fighting against the Japs has occurred in General MacArthur's Southwest Pacific command, where the general's forces early last month virtually effected a juncture with those of Admiral Halsey to the east. Significance as to new plans is seen in the announced meeting of Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur. At the same time there has come General MacArthur's disclaimer of any desire to run for the Presidency of the United States. This is being taken to mean that he wants nothing to interfere with his oft-announced goal of returning to the Philippines.

Last autumn little or no hope was held out for the recapture of the Philippines before 1945. This was based on the fact that General MacArthur was receiving only small numbers of men and small quantities of material and that he could not expect to launch an intensified offensive unless he was given more. Today, there is a confident optimism. It is pointed out that so far as the invasion of Western Europe is concerned, most of the men already are at their embarkation points and the equipment they need is fully available to them.

There have been many forecasts as to the length of time it will take to defeat Japan after Hitler has been beaten. Some have ranged as high as five years. But with the Japanese pushed back to the outer fringe of their defences and with an increase now possible in the supplies sent to the United Nations forces in the Pacific, there is no telling what will happen.

A PREDICTION COMING TRUE

WITHOUT CHROMIUM ORE FROM TURkey, Germany's war production will be seriously handicapped. Substitutes are unsatisfactory. All the chromite-mining nations of Europe now under Hitler's domination cannot make up for the Turkish loss. Their total production in 1940 was less than two-thirds the quantity produced in Turkey. How much Germany has available in stockpiles is unknown, but because of transportation difficulties and the high rate of use, it must be limited.

Chromium in steel making has a wider application than any other alloy material. It is an essential in most modern steels. It imparts hardness, wear resistance, useful magnetic properties, and increases resistance to corrosion. In the presence of carbon it combines with the carbon and forms a very hard carbide. Carbon chromium steels are case-hardened to give greater resistance to wear and are used in ball and roller racers, gears, pins and shafts, metal-cutting tools, springs, dies, protective plating, pins and shafts and turbine blades. Chromium is thus an essential in the manufacture of munitions, warships, tanks, trucks, tractors and other automotive equipment for war use.

For some months there have been indications of deteriorating quality in the equipment of the German forces, due to shortages of other necessary metals. Deprived of the supply of chromium from Turkey, German war equipment plants will be faced with new and more serious handicaps. The predictions early in the war of metallurgists that shortages of essential metals would be a factor in bringing about Germany's defeat in this war of machines, are at last being realized. Fortunately, the United Nations, able to draw on most of the rest of the world, are not so handicapped.

With the coffee allowance greater now than the average use before rationing, diners-out are asking when the Prices Board will get around to lifting that second-cup ban in restaurants.

POLITICIANS ON THE RADIO

TWO SAFE RULES FOR THE MANAGEment of the CBC to follow are offered by the Halifax Herald:

1. All recognized national political parties should be treated with scrupulous fairness in the allotment of free time on the air.

2. The CBC management should not set itself up as a political censor.

These rules appear to be sensible and should help to free the CBC of charges of political favoritism that are constantly being brought. To listeners it would seem that if a man is qualified to lead a national political party in Canada, he should be entitled to broadcast his views without interference from paid servants of the public. Moreover, the CBC management should not be asked to pass judgment on the remarks of any party leader.

However, there might well be a third rule. That is a limitation on the number and length of political speeches on the air. It would have to be worked out by the parties themselves. The dominating fact for them to bear in mind in doing this is that the tolerance of the public for political speeches over the radio is low. This has been indicated by Gallup Polls and is a phenomenon known to the managers of all broadcasting studios. Reports show that the number of listeners to a station drops rapidly when a political speech comes on the air, unless the speaker is outstanding and has something worth while saying and is able to say it in an interesting way. It would be futile for politicians to have unlimited time over the radio, as there is no means of compelling the people to listen. Besides, it is bad business for the radio stations as they lose their audiences to stations not carrying political speeches

LENDING, NOT SPENDING

AS WE BUY VICTORY BONDS AND hold on to them, we are not only furnishing war supplies but we are also holding the home front for those in the services.

Buying Victory Bonds protects the Canadian dollar from inflation, helps to keep things in line for the change-over from war to peacetime production, assures more and better jobs for our fighting men when they come home and economic security for ourselves.

Remember, when we buy Victory Bonds, we are lending, not spending. The money we lend is still ours to use in the years ahead when it will be needed most. We let our country use this money now so we can use it later.

There are more good reasons for buying Victory Bonds than for buying any single thing ever offered to the Canadian people. So let's buy for patriotism and hold for security.

NERVE WARFARE

THE GERMANS ARE NERVOUSLY FISHing for information with reports that a great Allied invasion fleet has assembled on the coast of Britain, or that masses of men and equipment are pouring over British roads and railways to British ports, or that other masses are piling up in Anzio and Corsica, or that a certain date is to be D-Day.

Only a handful of men know when and where it will happen. Only they know how much of all these occurrences are the real thing and how much may be the feints and false alarms predicted by Prime Minister Churchill.

One of the characteristics of nerve warfare is that it is felt not only by the enemy but also by the side that prosecutes it. If it is effective in giving the enemy the jitters, then it is certain to create a degree of tension and expectancy on our own side. This is by no means a bad thing, of course, unless it turns to restlessness and disappointment at the delay. Here is something to guard against.

It may be assumed that a time and a place are decided on and all that happens between now and then are necessary phases of the plan, decided upon deliberately by the commanders. Fretful impatience will not hasten the predestined hour.

The civilians' part in the nerve war is to keep their own nerve, remembering Mr. Churchill's remark that "I must warn you that in order to deceive and baffle the enemy as well as to exercise the forces, there will be many false alarms, many feints and many dress rehearsals."

NOTES

Victoria—It's the climate.

Skins of goldfish, according to a fashion note, look smart in shoes. But there are some of us who still think they look better on goldfish.

Newspictures of Col. Frank Knox's funeral in Washington remind us how unjust a fate it seems to be that decreed that after presiding over building, organizing and training of the greatest navy the world has ever known, he should have to die at the very time that the fleets are preparing to launch their most colossal efforts of the entire war.

According to figures for all Canada tabled in Parliament, of the men medically examined under the National Resources Mobilization Act, up to Feb. 29 last, 834,113 were declared fit for military service and 607,164 unfit. This is not a very good showing for a young uncrowded country. By provinces the figures are:

Province—	Fit	Unfit
Ontario	312,106	182,872
Quebec	144,025	209,806
Nova Scotia	43,386	36,611
New Brunswick	40,648	22,727
P.E.I.	10,874	5,095
Manitoba	65,837	37,830
British Columbia	68,053	40,446
Saskatchewan	73,373	33,706
Alberta	73,811	38,071

REACTION TO HALIFAX

THE GRAVE harm which the now famous speeches of Marshal Smuts and Lord Halifax have created in the Allied world is indicated clearly by reports now coming out of Washington. The United States News, a valued weekly report of Washington affairs, edited by the distinguished American journalist, David Lawrence, stresses the unhappy reaction produced in the United States by the current proposal to make the British Commonwealth into a power bloc, to balance the power of the United States and Russia. It says:

"Some British leaders are talking about a Western European bloc, in which Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal, Denmark and Norway would pool their interests. They also are proposing that the Dominions be included in the bloc and have an equal voice with Britain in determining British foreign policy. These leaders fear that, without such a bloc, Britain will cease to be one of the world's great powers. Opposition to the British plan for a balance-of-power bloc is being exerted by President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, as Secretary of State. They know that the British, French, Belgian, Dutch and Portuguese empires together control more than 21,000,000 square miles or two-fifths of the land area of the world. If these countries should act as a unit in matters of defence and trade they could shut the U.S. out of many of the zones now regarded as strategic for this country's defence."

THE PROPOSALS TO which the United States News refers do not come directly from the British government. The plan to join Britain to western Europe as a counterpoise against Russia came from Marshal Smuts. The plan to consolidate the British Commonwealth came from Lord Halifax and was rejected by Marshal Smuts on March 17 last. But it is quite understandable that the United States, observing the eminence of these two statesmen, should be alarmed lest their opinions should represent some considerable force within the British Commonwealth as it confers at present in London. Most ordinary American citizens doubtless are not aware that the "Titan" theory of the British Commonwealth has been rejected by the Commonwealth at large, is opposed by all major political parties in Canada and is not practical politics. The Smuts and Halifax speeches unhappily caught the headlines and alarmed the American people.

THE KILLDEER PLOVER

The victory gardener, apart from attending to his vegetable crops may often get added zest by noting the habits of insects and birds sometimes to his profit and otherwise to his amusement, amazement, or knowledge of nature. The Killdeer Plover while essentially a field bird may be found in close proximity to country homes. It ranks with the bluejay in being a noisy fellow, screetching at the top of its loud pitched voice especially when man or beast approaches it. It is most adept in leading one away from its particular haunt whether it be nest, young or feeding ground. Screetching and calling, it keeps just in front of the intruder by running or by short flights. This it will do for several hundred feet from where it was first disturbed. The Killdeer nests on the ground and the young leave the nest within 24 hours.

On the evening of April 16 I was walking across one of the farm fields which had been recently seeded and soon was confronted with a Killdeer, his noisy screetch and his plan to lead me away. Having too often been led away I remarked to my daughter who was with me that perhaps there was a nest nearby, and she remarked: "Whey, there is a young bird!" As we first approached it commenced to run off, but soon tired and lay dogo on the ground. We came right up to the little fledgling, knelt beside it, but it made no sign of movement except a faintly perceptible movement of the head when its beak slipped off a small pebble on which it had been resting. It kept its eyes wide open. We both stroked it with our fingers but still no sign of life. We then walked away for about 30 feet when it once more got up and commenced to run, calling in a very low voice. As we again approached, it ran until exhausted and once more played dogo. We went through the same performance. In the meantime the parent birds were hard by trying to attract our attention. We spent half an hour in this form of play, no doubt causing the parent birds a great deal of anxiety. When we finally walked away the old birds quieted down and one of them soon joined the little one which by instinct had learned that if you can't run fast enough it is better to lie and wait.—J. J. Woods, Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton.

GEMS OF THOUGHT—TRUST

"It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust."—Samuel Johnson.

"To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved."—George MacDonald.

"Trust Truth, not error; and Truth will give you all that belongs to the rights of freedom."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"An undivided heart, which worships God alone, and trusts Him as it should, is raised above all anxiety for earthly wants."—Geikie.

"The stars come nightly to the sky,
The tidal wave comes to the sea,
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me."
John Burroughs.

The penalty for living in a land of good manners is that everybody seems so rude and barbarous when you get among strangers.

It may be literary treason, but we confess never being able to wade through that wordy, affected classic, "Moby Dick."

News Analysis—The War Today

By DE WITT MACKENIZE
Associated Press War Analyst

Some people are inclined to display too much emotion—too much violence of thought—in their efforts to prejudge the great post-war situations involved in the remaking of the world into a new home for mankind.

There are numerous controversial issues involved in the post-war readjustment. Among them are territorial claims, some of which already have been laid down definitely by our Russian ally, and others that patently are developing. Then there are a considerable number of cases where self-determination is sought, both in Europe and in north Africa.

Every one of these cases is filled with high explosive. This is especially true since in each instance all the Big Three—Britain, the United States and Russia—have at least a sentimental interest. Ordinary horse-sense dictates that explosives be handled cautiously.

Thus it behooves each of us not to sound off too violently in public in laying down the post-war law. We have to remember we are in a partnership.

The consensus of Allied statesmen is that world peace depends on solidarity among the Big Three. A split in the partnership would mean another war ultimately.

Solidarity doesn't involve subservience on the part of any one of the partnership. It doesn't demand sacrifice of principle. It does call for a high sense of realism in working out postwar readjustments.

But what about the Atlantic Charter? Well, practical-minded Prime Minister Churchill recently gave us a lead on that. He was asked in the House of Commons for a clarifying statement "in view of the doubts which exist as to what territories the principles of the Atlantic Charter were to apply." To this he replied:

"It is evident that as the changing phases of the war succeed one another, some further clarifications will be required of the position under the document . . . the Atlantic Charter stands as a declaration of the spirit and purpose in which its signatories are waging this war."

THIS WAR—FOUR YEARS AGO

May 5, 1940 — The Admiralty denied formally a German claim that a British battleship had been sunk off Norway. French troops repulsed a second German attack in two days on the western front. Two Norwegian cabinet ministers reached Britain for conferences.

Build him up
and don't worry about vitamins and minerals.
Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight, and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, especially an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.
But don't worry about vitamins and minerals! Children who eat 3 average-good meals including fruit juice, and drink 2 glasses of Ovaltine each day, are getting all the extra vitamins and minerals they need. In addition to its well-balanced food values, Ovaltine adds significant amounts of Vitamins A, B_1 and D and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. So, if your child is not developing normally, remember this rule:
3 good meals plus 2 glasses of Ovaltine every day.

Yes, among Canadians, Libby's is by far the most popular tomato juice. They love its vine-ripened, sunny flavour, "gentle pressed" from pedigreed tomatoes—superbly luscious fruit, grown from special seed and picked at the very peak of flavour.

He can even joke about his "pension stilts"

A YOUNG AIR FORCE HERO, just returned from overseas, was being interviewed by newspaper reporters.

With a cheerful grin he chatted casually about split-second air duels fought at fantastic speeds. To listen, you'd think it was great sport diving, twisting and looping in a "kite", flirting with "flak" and playing deadly tag with "Jerry".

His first crash didn't even muss his hair. The second...

Well, he'll never walk again. Yet you'd never guess that he cared. He wasn't bitter, or looking for sympathy. In fact, he even made wise cracks about his crutches. "Pension stilts", he called them. And it seemed his only regret was that he couldn't have another crack at the Luftwaffe!

Would you care to match your spirit with his?

You are now being urged to invest money, safely and profitably, in Victory Bonds. This, certainly, is little to ask. But you must respond as never before! For the appalling losses in lives and materials that go with invasion must be matched with greater self-denial at home!

Will you give up—just temporarily—some pleasures and even some so-called necessities in order to buy extra Victory Bonds?

Will you do so with a smile?

Montreal Meets Its Emergency Housing Problem

While Victoria, in common with many other cities in Canada, is confronted with a serious housing situation, the city of Montreal has been given leadership in solving this problem by George W. Spinney, C.M.G., president of the Bank of Montreal. He has announced plans for a significant development of far-reaching possibilities designed to meet the emergency condition in Montreal.

The project, which has been discussed at length with government officials at Ottawa and municipal officials in Montreal, as well as with representatives of the provincial government at Quebec City, envisages the construction and operation of over 900 modern, low-rental dwellings in selected areas of the city, and it may provide the pattern for similar developments not alone in Montreal, where the housing shortage is probably most serious, but in other large centres throughout the Dominion.

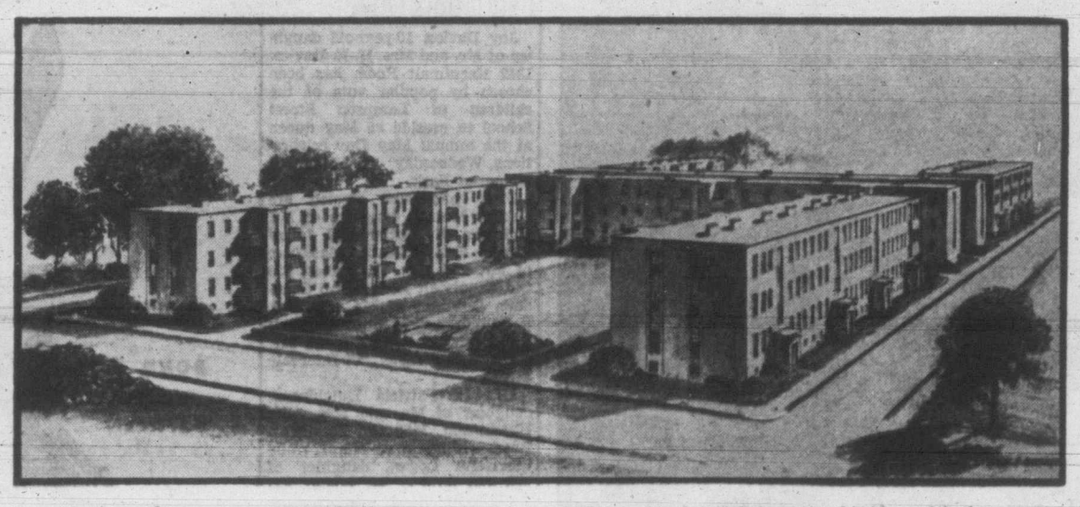
To carry out the project, a company will be formed shortly under provincial charter, and at this date the following persons, subject to the approval of the shareholders, have agreed to serve as directors without remuneration: Emile Corbeil, president, Corbeil Ltd.; Hon. Wilfrid Gagnon, president, Aird & Son Ltd.; Paul A. McFarlane, vice-president, Bell Telephone Co. of Canada; A. Stewart McNichols, president, A. S. McNichols & Co. Ltd.; F. Cleveland Morgan, vice-president, Henry Morgan & Co.; Hon. Alphonse Raymond, president, Alphonse Raymond Ltd.; R. Ewart Stavert, vice-president, Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co.; Lionel O. P. Walsh, president, Dominion Tar & Chemical Co., and George W. Spinney, president, Bank of Montreal.

Speaking on behalf of those who are sponsoring the enterprise, Mr. Spinney said: "This venture is not designed as an attempt at slum clearance; that would involve long delays and numerous difficulties. The present proposal is essentially to meet an emergency by lessening the shortage of dwellings for wage-earners generally."

MODERN TOWN-PLANNING FEATURES

Although the primary aim of the project is to meet an emergency situation, the tentative plans which have been drawn up indicate that the dwellings will embody some of the best features of modern town-planning, including sound, fire-resisting construction, good ventilation and sunlight, and private playgrounds for the children of the tenants.

The plan, while not yet complete in every detail, calls for the erection of something over 900 flats, in tiers of three, occupying about seven city blocks, or their equivalent. Each block would contain about 140 dwellings, divided into one, two and three-bedroom flats, all including good-sized living-room, bathroom and kitchen-dinette. At the outset, tenants will supply their own heating. Central heating will not be provided because the cost of installation at this time would necessitate rentals substantially above the relatively low scale now anticipated, but provision will be made so that installation may be undertaken at a later date if it is found to be feasible.



An arrangement of buildings containing 132 dwellings. All flats would have a good-sized living-room, kitchen and bathroom, as well as ample closet space. Of the 132 dwellings, 24 would have three bedrooms, 84 two-bedrooms, and 24 one-bedrooms. All bedrooms are designed to contain two beds. Playgrounds—two to a block—measure approximately 80'x230'—ample room for juvenile sports.

The buildings would be placed in short rows of about 24 dwellings each, suitably spaced over the area to be occupied. Each entrance from the street would give access to several dwellings, similar in nature to a small apartment block.

While the rental figures will not be determined until the cost of construction and other factors are finally settled, the intention is to keep them as low as possible, in keeping with the whole motive behind the plan.

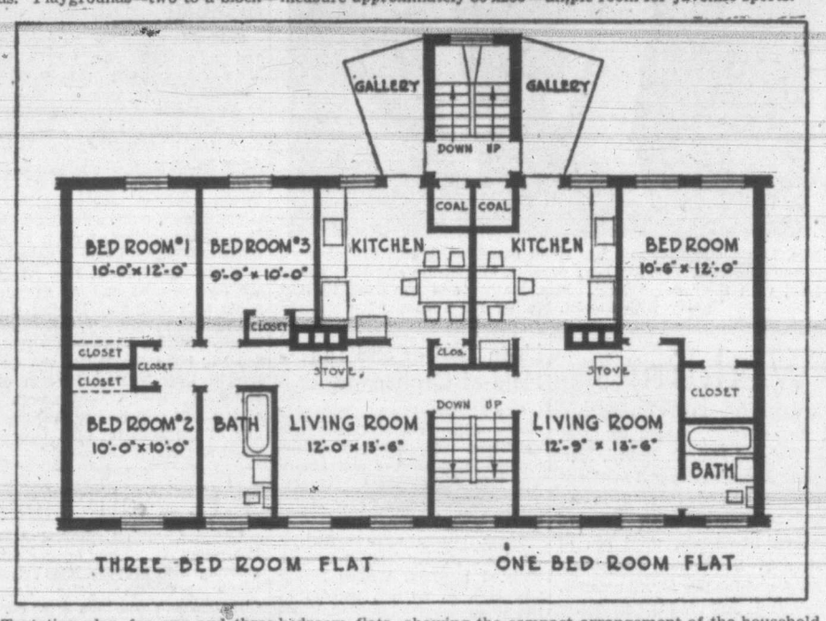
$3,000,000 PROJECT

In discussing the financing of the scheme, which would involve an expenditure of some three million dollars, Mr. Spinney said the company's capital was being subscribed by a number of business firms in Montreal whose support had been enlisted, and that the Dominion Government, anxious to assist in the scheme, had promised to lend a large proportion of the funds needed.

Mr. Spinney said that, because of the high cost of materials and labor, it was felt that the most practical way to obtain quick results, at a time when the city so badly needed more housing, was to combine government assistance with private capital, both carrying low rates of interest.

The plan has been discussed with various government authorities, with architects, builders and real estate operators, and, subject to negotiations now under way being finalized, the project will be launched.

"The reason which has impelled the sponsors, and the business corporations behind them, to give this venture a start," said Mr. Spinney, "is that we recognize there is an emergency and feel that its remedy should not be left entirely to government. We believe the business community has the resource and enterprise to lead the way in tackling this most pressing social problem."



Tentative plan for one and three-bedroom flats, showing the compact arrangement of the household, with good-sized living-room, ample kitchen with alcove for dining purposes, bathroom, and bedrooms sufficient to accommodate two beds each. Dwellings are also planned with two bedrooms. Many rooms have two large windows.

URGENT NEED FIRST INTEREST

From a financial point of view, Mr. Spinney said that the enterprise had not the usual investment appeal and that those who had become interested in the project had done so solely because of their desire to assist in an important step towards filling an urgent community need. The whole scheme has been built up with this need as the primary consideration.

The plan contemplates the issue of capital stock to the extent of about 3,000 shares of $100 each, with the interest being limited to 3 per cent per annum. Shareholders in the new company would agree to forego expectation of capital gain, for the plan contemplates merely the ultimate return of funds subscribed. Thus, no shareholder will ever obtain a capital profit, no matter how well the venture may turn out. Nor is there any guarantee that the shareholder will get his money back. That is a risk he is willing to take in order to get the project under way.

In sepeaking of the federal government's participation in the project, Mr. Spinney stated the Minister of Finance had agreed to advance funds up to nine times the amount subscribed by shareholders—this at a 3 per cent rate of interest in the form of a mortgage loan. The money will be repaid out of rentals in annual amounts of capital and interest over a period of, say, 40 years.

Mr. Spinney said that conversations with officers of the city of Montreal had been under way for some time and they recognized the merits of the project in reducing the housing shortage and obtaining more tax revenue for the city.

"They have been fully co-operative," said Mr. Spinney, "and if the negotiations can be concluded satisfactorily in collaboration with the authorities at Quebec City, so as to enable the enterprise to get under way, it is probable that the properties will be turned over to the city after retirement of the Dominion Government mortgage loan and the shareholders' capital."

Describes Advance Of Modern Medicine

Advance of modern medicine in the drug field during the 20th century was depicted by Dr. W. A. Trenholme when he spoke on "Devils, Drugs and Doctors," before the Lions' Club Thursday.

The wonder drug, penicillin, sulfanilamides, insulin and liver extract were among those he listed as revolutionizing the health of the world.

Drugs, added to diagnostic skill, public health awareness, scientific nursing and better hygiene and diet generally, made the world a far better place to live in, he said.

Cartels had hidden some of these drugs from the public, he said, Germany having kept carefully hidden the sulfa drugs manufactured by her chemical firms for many years.

Impressing the importance of modern medicine, Dr. Trenholme said if there was modern science without modern medicine, the world would end because disease would be transmitted from place to place by modern transportation.

He reviewed the ignorance of early days when mankind relied on the witch-doctors, herbal mixtures and superstitions for their good health. Next, he said, came the theologians who often undertook to cure disease by trepanning the skull to "let out the devil."

Medical knowledge gradually improved under the hands of the Saracen surgeons until Hippocrates came into the limelight of medical history, and now goes down as the first real doctor, whose teachings remained authoritative until the 19th century.

Dr. Trenholme condemned the religious intolerance of the Dark Ages which combatted disease with prayers and incantations instead of medicine, and had left superstitions that still existed in the minds of many today.

MONTREAL WOMAN BARRICADES HOME—May 1 in Montreal brought signs of a "stay in strike" among tenants who should move but have no place to go. The day passed with few incidents, landlords adopting a "wait and see" attitude before taking steps to obtain eviction orders. However, warned by her landlord that he intended to take possession immediately, Mrs. S. H. Taylor-Webber barricaded the front door to her seven-room house with furniture. "He came to the house and asked me to turn over the key," she said. "He got as far as the door that's all. I told him I did not intend to move and he went away. If he applies for an eviction order I will fight it." Most cities in Canada face the same problem as Montreal. In Victoria 400 families must find new homes but the question is "[illegible] can they go?"

New Pledges Honored By Beta Sigma Phi

Thirteenth anniversary of Founder's Day of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was celebrated by Zeta chapter members at a formal banquet held in the Empress Hotel. Past President Miss Barbara Dawson extended a welcome to the four new pledges, Misses Helen Gilliland, Dorothy Waller, Edna Middleton and Mrs. R. Restall, and a guest, Mrs. T. H. Johns.

Mrs. Johns, sponsor of Zeta chapter, spoke to the girls and expressed her pleasure in being associated with the group. Letters were read from Mrs. Bob Fields, formerly a member of Zeta chapter, now living in Charlottetown, and Mrs. Phillipson, now in Prince Rupert. At the close of the banquet the toast to victory was given by Mrs. W. Levis. Miss Joyce Finch gave the toast to girls in the services and Miss Win Elliott spoke on "What Beta Sigma Phi Means to Me."

Annual message from the founder of Beta Sigma Phi, Walter W. Ross, was read by the new president, Miss Frances Law. A short history of the sorority was outlined by Miss Joyce Goggin. On behalf of the chapter, Mrs. T. Hammond, director, presented the resigning president, Miss Barbara Dawson, with a gift of an identification bracelet.

During the short program following the banquet, Miss Evelyn Hamilton gave a short reading and Miss Helen Porter sang the sorority's prize-winning song for 1944, "Song of Victory." The initiation ceremony was conducted by Miss B. Dawson. The four new pledges received their pins. Mrs. T. Hammond conducted the ritual of jewels ceremony for Mrs. K. Whitworth, a pledge of last April, who left shortly after her initiation for Halifax.

Members present included Misses Marjorie MacLennan, Gladys Robertson, Kitty Cameron, Vera Waller, Rita Rodger and Mesdames Janet Wilson, Gladys Rough, Helen Bird and Winnie Wardman. Mrs. K. Whitworth sang two solos.

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Scottish Regiment match book returns were reported as $104.59 for April. Regular monthly parcels for lonely soldiers were sent, and further acknowledgements of cigarette and layettes were read.

SIMMONDS—POWELL

Doris Emily, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Powell, Margaret Street, exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening in St. Mark's Church with Leonard Alfred Simmonds, third son of Mrs. T. Simmonds, Blenkinsop Road, and the late Mr. Simmonds. Rev. O. L. Jull read the service.

A dressmaker suit of powder blue was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Her corsage bouquet was composed of carnations, lily of the valley and heather. Miss Betty Powell was her sister's only attendant, wearing a cinnamon brown frock with darker brown accessories and a shoulder spray of pale pink carnations. Fred Simmonds was his brother's groomsman and Ted Shelley ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where mothers of the young couple received the guests. A three-tier wedding cake, the gift of Mrs. J. McCarthy, centred the bride's table.

After a honeymoon in Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Simmonds will reside on Blenkinsop Road. The bride donned a blue-grey tweed coat with white fox fur over her wedding ensemble.

Linen Shower and Tea Held at Orphanage

One hundred and fifty-nine pieces of linen and $122.35 in cash donations were received at the annual linen shower and tea of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, Thursday afternoon, at the Home by the ladies' committee.

Many guests were welcomed by Mrs. R. Hughes, president, assisted by Mrs. Walter Luney and Mrs. A. Barner, matron of the Home.

Presiding at the tea table, which was attractively arranged with vari-hued tulips and pink tapers in crystal holders, were Mrs. W. Holder and Mrs. Edward Cridge. Members of the committee assisted in serving. Mrs. Edwin Brown and Mrs. J. W. King received donations of linen and Mrs. F. Dillabough was in charge of tea tickets.

A musical program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Norris Harwood. Mrs. F. Shandley sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn and Mrs. J. I. Smith contributed violin selections. Girls of the home were heard in two chorals, while the boys presented one. Recitations were given by Mary Hayward and Jean Fraboni.

B.C. Toy Club Display In Spencer's Store

Final arrangements were made for the display in Spencer's store on May 15 for the week of toys, at a meeting of the British Columbia Toy Club. The last three days of the week members will be in the store to receive donations. A committee of three will decide on new workrooms. Things needed for the workshop are a wardrobe, two trunks or sea chests, a large chest of drawers with a lock, for storing toys and material. Donations will be received by calling E 4367 after 7 p.m.

While in the city, Miss Mary-Etta Macpherson, managing editor of the Chatelaine magazine, congratulated the members on their work. Many of the workers have met at the home of Mesdames C. D. Neroutsos, C. Bostusto, Lily Hicks, A. Mainprize, C. Goodwin and K. Hunter.

Special character doll conveners have been Mesdames Lorna Evans, Ware, N. Mills, B. Mainprize, Olive Atkins, A. La Mothe, C. Downham, S. House, Morrison, K. Kerslake. Special animal conveners are Mesdames M. Eley, Limbert, Fulton, D. Biggar, Poulton and Miss Allwork.

Volunteers Needed By Salvage Corps

The Salvage Corps of B.C. is finding the salvage business bites both ways, according to A. H. Pease, honorary manager. They are getting floods of the much-wanted salvage but are now facing a shortage of drivers and swampers to handle it.

An urgent appeal is being launched for volunteers in this work. Anyone who would be willing to volunteer for a morning or afternoon would be welcome at the corps. Hours are: Morning 9 to 1, and afternoons, 1 to 5.

Information may be obtained at the office of the Salvage Corps at 1220 Government Street, phone E 3413.

Joy Davies, 10, Esquimalt Queen

Joy Davies, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Davies, 1342 Esquimalt Road, has been chosen by popular vote of the children of Lampson Street School to preside as May queen at the annual May Day celebrations Wednesday at Esquimalt Memorial Park.

Four princesses elected are Shirley Mutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Mutter, 462 Joffre Street; Valerie Jeanes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Jeanes, 828 Old Esquimalt Road; Jean Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Saunders, 496 Lampson Street; Elsie Jernslet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Jernslet, 801 Intervale Street.

Little Patricia Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hutchinson, 1158 Old Esquimalt Road, will be crown-bearer, while Marrietta Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Logan, 855 Craigflower Road, will carry the train.

Red Cross Notes

Columbia Unit — A concert and picture show held in Marigold Hall raised $25. Douglas Flintoff showed "Proudly She Marches," "Target Berlin," "Corvette Port Arthur," and two comedies. Mrs. S. Rodd and Miss Anne Miller were in charge of the Punchinello Puppet Players. J. Daniel rendered four solos. Mrs. Nixon gave a piano solo and with Mrs. J. Humphries, a duet. Miss Barbara Barrick danced the sailor's hornpipe. Mrs. T. Raper was the accompanist and A. Frayne acted as chairman. During the intermission Mr. Frayne announced that a Victory Bond for $50 had been donated to the Columbia Unit by Mr. Snoblin of Hastings Street. Next meeting of the unit will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Greenwood at 2.30.

Y.P. Activities

Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A.—Rev. W. Askew opened the meeting with prayers. Miss Irene Webb presided. Miss Jane Charlesworth will look after corporate Communion breakfast this month. A report on variety show receipts was given by Miss Margaret McCulloch. Lenten boxes should be turned in to Ron Allan as soon as possible. Annual penny fair will be held in the hall June 14, in both afternoon and evening. Next Wednesday Rev. Askew will speak on "Know Your Prayer Book."

St. John's A.Y.P.A. — A business meeting was opened with prayers by Margery Symonds. Five guests were welcomed: Helen Smith, Dick Jones, Gary Young and Gerald and Bert Greenslade. A discussion was held on "Why I Am An Anglican." Sunday is Corporate Communion at 8, followed by breakfast in the hall. Breakfast speaker is Rev. Geo. Biddle. Breakfast convener, Eleanor Leslie-Melville. Next week will be a Maytime party in the hall at 8.15. Committee in charge of arrangements includes Roberta Ray, Cora Manton, Mary Wilkinson, Cathryn Hughes and Joan Brice.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Y.P.S.—A bowling party will be held Monday at 8 at Gibson's Bowladrome.

ANNIVERSARY MEETING

Seventy-five women attended the 40th anniversary meeting celebrated by the Women's Missionary Society of Wilkinson Road United Church, Mrs. E. Boorman presiding. Mrs. J. Edge, secretary, called the roll and three charter members, Mrs. W. Allison, Mrs. S. Jones and Mrs. G. Jones, were called to the platform and received corsage bouquets. Mrs. D. Lehman, the other charter member, was unable to be present. Mrs. Boorman received a life membership pin. An inspiring message given by Mrs. J. Hood of Victoria, and "In the Secret of His Presence," by Mrs. Butler and "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Mrs. W. Garnham, were appreciated. Mrs. H. Allison acted as accompanist. Mrs. Walter Allison reviewed the work of the auxiliary and gave the names of the first officers and charter members.

It's Spring . . . and she has shining hair! No wonder love is in the air!

No other shampoo leaves hair so lustrous . . . and yet so easy to manage!

Only Drene with Hair Conditioner reveals up to 33% more lustre than soap . . . yet leaves hair so easy to arrange, so alluringly smooth!

Springtime! Time for you to be lovelier than ever . . . with glamorous shining hair. So don't let soap or soap shampoos dull the lustrous beauty of your locks!

Be beauty wise! Change to Drene Shampoo with Hair Conditioner. See the dramatic difference after your very first shampoo . . . how gloriously it reveals all the lovely, sparkling highlights, all the natural colour brilliance of your hair!

See, too, how this new, improved Drene containing hair conditioner now leaves hair far silkier, smoother, easier to manage . . . right after shampooing! Easier to comb into smooth, shining neatness!

So insist on Drene Shampoo with Hair Conditioner . . . or ask your beauty shop to use it.

And remember! Drene gets rid of all flaky dandruff the very first time you use it!

Soap film dulls lustre — robs hair of glamour!

All cake soaps and liquid soap shampoos leave a dulling film on your hair. Drene never leaves any dulling film.

That's why Drene reveals up to 33% more lustre!

Suspected Deserter From C.W.A.C. Held

LOS ANGELES (CP) — A young woman was detained by police here Thursday night on suspicion that she was a deserter from the C.W.A.C.

"I just had a crazy notion," police quoted her as saying. "I just wanted to see my boy friend. I had not been in service long enough for a furlough, so I just took one."

The girl was arrested in a department store on suspicion of shoplifting, police said. She told police she was returning to Camp Borden, Ont., and thought she would be less conspicuous in civilian clothing.

Canadian Army officials have been notified.

VICTORY PARADE

Group after group of marching feet
Gave out their rhythm on Douglas Street;
Three upon three, unending stream,
Uniformed men, making real our dream
Of millions responding to victory's call;
Shouldering arms, not passing the ball.

As they swung along the hardened track,
Free right arms, each with gun and pack,
A little woman with silver hair
Stood on her back porch, watching there;
Feeling their need as never before,
Blessing each company o'er and o'er.

The spirit striving in sobs and tears,
Praying "God save our volunteers,"
And may all these boys and girls and men,
Tested, march glady home again.

OUTSTANDING PLAYS AT SCHOOL FESTIVAL

The adjudicator, Mrs. Phoebe Smith, has sent to the Community Drama Office a list of seven additional plays which she considered to be outstanding and worthy to be given on the last night, if time had allowed.

They were in their order on the program, not order of merit, as it was a noncompetitive festival: "Evening Dress Indispensable," Oak Bay High School; "His First Dress Suit," St. Louis College; "Auf Wiedersehn," Esquimalt High School; "Be Home by Midnight," Mount View High School; "Hansel and Gretel," St. Margaret's School; "Make Room for Rodney," Victoria High School; "On Board the Golden Hind," Qualicum Beach School.

Mrs. Smith has also given a list of students whose performances she considered outstanding. They are: John Beckwith, Bruce Madeley, Keith Littler, Marguerite Hurst, Kathleen Foster, Bill Chaster, Robert Young, Devenay Maloan, Bob Dalziel, Audrey Crossman, John McAlpine, Ken Kissinger, Harry Frackson, Walter Mottershead, Keith Robertson, Janice Olsen, Mae Ferguson, Mary Rittich, Victor Mitchell, Clifton Colpetts, Kathleen Brian, Charles Ellington, Diana Jenkins, Melvin Thompson, Kenneth Stewart, Judy Humphreys, Dorothy Frampton, Anna Beckton, Russell Isaac, Brian Burns, Joan Macdonald, John Newbery, Edith Benson, Marigold Mackenzie, Thelma Brown, Maureen Pecknold, Jim Howey, Malcolm MacDonald, Eric Rossiter, Richard Martin, Patsy Scott, Don Robertson and Betty Evans.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix — I have succeeded in changing a selfish, careless and indifferent husband into one who is considerate, unselfish and one of the easiest persons in the world to live with. And I pass on this tip to other wives.

There was a time when I went out of my way to avoid doing anything that might annoy my husband. I exerted myself to appease him in every way. But nothing that I did ever suited him. He always found fault with me. So I quit trying to please him and changed my tactics. I do what I please and no longer cater to his desires and, strangely enough, he is now trying to appease me. Habits that I have been trying to break him of for years have disappeared. Certain things that menaced our marriage have become unimportant to him and he, himself, states that the only thing that means anything to him now is his marriage to me.

My experience has proved that men are very contrary creatures. I feel that my idea would work on any careless man if he still happened to love his wife, but if the spark has died completely I would not guarantee any successful results. What do you think of my method?

CONTENTED WIFE.

Answer—I have been told that even lion tamers disagree on whether kindness or the whip is the better way of breaking the spirits and teaching the beasts to jump through a hoop, and doubtless the same problem as to which is the better method applies to housebreaking a husband.

But the catch in your recipe for bringing a husband to heel and making him realize what a jewel he has in his Maria is that it depends upon his still being in love with her, although he doesn't give her any indication of it. Such being the case, it would be a dangerous experiment for Maria to undertake, unless she is a mind-reader and gifted with occult powers. For if she guessed wrong, she would no doubt lose her husband and her good home and shopping ticket, which are not to be sneezed at in these days of the high cost of living.

Electric Ranges To Be Made Again

OTTAWA (CP) — The electric range, an orphan of the storm of war, is coming back into its own with authority given for the manufacture of about 13,000 in the next 12 months, it was learned here.

The Prices Board administrator of electric apparatus, equipment and supplies, M. C. Lowe of Montreal, also has given authority for the production of 9,000 electric rangettes and 50,000 electric cooking plates.

241 Foreign Cars Here During April

Despite curtailment of gasoline, shortage of rubber and recommendations from all in authority for people not to travel, figures released by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau today, through Gerald Yardley, collector of customs, revealed that 241 automobiles bearing foreign licenses, entered Canada through the port of Victoria during the month of April.

There was an increase of 102 cars over the month of April, 1943, when 139 automobiles bearing foreign licenses entered Canada through Victoria.

Cars bearing licenses of 16 states in the union were seen on the streets of Victoria during April this year. Some cars came from as far as Georgia and Pennsylvania, and there were 15 from California.

July 5 was the date chosen by the members of St. Matthew's Guild for their annual garden party and sale at the home of Mrs. L. Powers, Langford Lake, when they met at the home of Mrs. A. F. Bayles. Mrs. H. A. Hincks presided. Mrs. T. Millward gave a reading on "Women's Word in the Bible." Prayers were read by Rev. G. H. Greenhalgh. Mrs. H. W. McKenzie assisted the hostess in serving tea. Arrangements were made to welcome Miss Peggy Moore at the next meeting, Thursday. Miss Moore has just returned from England and will be the speaker.

Sports Mirror

By ART STOTT

OCCASIONALLY you run across an organization which seems to justify those intangibles you like to think are the background of sport, particularly for the younger element. It's refreshing and helps to make you forget some of the less desirable features which sometimes crop up. K.V.'s appear to be the type which gives you that lift. This week the boys who form and run the club, with the assistance of a few adult executive members and coaches, gathered for their annual dinner and reaffirmed their forward drive. There was little in the way of prepared oratory to suggest the high ideology of sports, but, running through the good-natured back-slapping, there was a current of decency, straight-forwardness and sincere determination to progress that would win admiration from any disinterested observer.

The boys were publicity-hungry in the way that is customary with youth. They thought they had done a good job and would have preferred it to be sung from the housetops. And, somehow, you got the idea they were justified. Their record speaks for itself in basketball and softball. In the former sport K.V.'s four teams swept city championship play, took three island titles and carried through to provincial laurels in one instance. That, as head coach Harold Turner pointed out, is very fair progress for an outfit which started four years ago with one team and trailed along at the end of its class that season.

On point of performance, they have done very well. They have hitched their wagon to a star and bid fair to advance a long way towards their objective. And they have that great asset of self-propulsion. Members come into the club by a selective process, although the standards are pretty wide. Since they are decent lads keenly interested in games, they attract like numbers. Each pays dues, running from $2.50 a year for seniors over 18 to $1.50 for juniors under 16. And their energies appear very considerable when they go out after extra funds. They have initiative and inventiveness. The B.C. championship windbreakers presented to the junior basketball team were financed by a raffle.

From reports, they live up 100 per cent to their aims "to further the enthusiastic participation in athletics and to foster clean living and a high standard of sportsmanship." Not that they are the little Lord Fauntleroy type. The secretary wore a patch over an honest black-eye at the dinner. You gather the impression they can squawk with the best when a referee's decision goes against them. But you also feel they'd accept that decision when it was handed down. Real hustlers, they look forward to the days of senior competition, when the lights come on again and the boys are no longer lost to the services when they reach the higher age groupings. And when they do hit the senior circuits, they'll have the advantage of several years' uniform coaching that should stand them in good stead.

It is interesting to note the juvenile delinquency rating of the club is nil. The boys are too busy with their games to get into serious trouble. That might suggest a pattern for other Victoria organizations. But any interests which try to copy them might give some attention to the fact that the spark in the K.V.'s club is alive in every member. It's not an incentive paternally bestowed by well-intentioned adults. How it is lighted should not be a K.V. secret. It might be a source of highly valuable research for those sections of the community which are searching for means of channeling young energies to desirable outlets.

ROYAL BROUGHAM, sports-columning for the Seattle P.-I. this week devoted space to youngsters on the other end of the see-saw to K.V.'s.

"They were," writes Brougham, "the 10 toughest kids the sheriff could find in the jail house.

"The idea was to prove a theory held by those of us who think the youngsters who leap and run, whoop, holler and sweat while playing on an athletic team are kids you won't find in the town clinker.

"We sat down behind iron bars in a corner of the county jail and chatted with them, friendly like, one at a time . . . boys 15 to 17 jailed as delinquents; dirty, disheveled, scared, repentent.

"Ten kids, just like yours and mine, and here's the point of the story . . . not a single boy is a member of a baseball, basketball, softball or any other kind of an athletic team . . ."

To Extend Deadline On Ball Club Limit

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball is ready to adopt a realistic viewpoint toward wartime manpower conditions by postponing its 25-player limit deadline from May 13 to June 12 and shortening from 60 to 30 days the time required for a voluntarily retired player to be reinstated.

Under baseball law the National League clubs must be down to 25 men within 30 days after the opening of the season, but many club owners find their rosters sprinkled with men neither retired nor placed on the national defence list but also not available for duty.

In order to permit these teams again to get in touch with their lagging players who are undecided about their baseball future because of employment or draft conditions, the limit probably will be extended to 60 days as the result of a vote now being taken.

Canadians Active On Cairo Front

LONDON (CP)—From down sunny Cairo way comes word that Cpl. Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, who won the Canadian singles tennis title in 1940, lost out in the quarter finals of a crack open tournament in that city.

McDiarmid, on the staff of the R.C.A.F. base post office at Middle East Headquarters, was beaten 6-2, 7-5, by M. Talaat, a smooth volleyer not further identified. In the previous round the Canadian ace trounced the Palestine champion, J. Finkelkraut, in straight sets.

News of the tourney came from Sqdn. Ldr. John Clare, air force public relations officer in that theatre and former Toronto and western Canada newspaperman. He said that so conspicuous was the all-Canadian section in the stands at the Tewfilkieh tenis club when McDiarmid played that one Cairo newspaper observed that "half of Canada" seemed to be present to see the former Dominion king clash with the best in the Middle East.

FOOTBALL?

The squadron medical officer paces the sidelines when playful (?) members of the City of Edmonton Mosquito Intruder squadron engage in little bouts of Mayhem with a rugby ball at their English base.

It's a weird form of rugby that occurs almost nightly on a field about 1-10 the size of a regulation gridiron. There are no picked teams, a minimum of rules, and anyone joining the fray takes a position on whatever side appears to have the least players. One of the prize booters of the Intruders, who, incidentally, have been doing mighty well in the air, is FO. Doug Miller of Vancouver while FO. Paddy Roberts of Saskatoon, Sask., has a neat pass.

Athlone to Perform

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada, will perform the opening ceremonies at Upper Brockton cricket grounds Saturday when the 31st cricket season opens in the mainland league here.

Eight teams will comprise the two divisions of the league this year, but only three games will be played Saturday.

Win Army Championships

TR. LEN WADSWORTH

PTE. ALEX BUGUSKI

SGT. BOB ROBERTSON

PTE. WM. EVANS

LIEUT. WM. HAYNES

Before a packed house in Ottawa Thursday night eastern and western army champions met for Dominion military boxing championships. Wadsworth scored a technical knockout over Cpl. Alf Nyberg; Buguski decisioned Pte. A. DiSalvo; Robertson won the nod from Pte. R. A. McDonald; Evans decisioned Pte. Tom Klymick and Haynes scored a technical knockout over Pte. Yvon McDougal.

Postwar Hockey Due for Boom

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hockey will figure prominently in the general postwar sports boom, Red Dutton, managing director of the National Hockey League, said in an interview here.

Dutton also predicted the postwar N.H.L. will see clubs playing as many as 80 games in one season, with rosters including as many as 25 players. Double-headers in a single afternoon or evening were not beyond the realm of possibility, he said.

'Peg Skating Star Turns Professional

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lillian McGuire, 18, youthful Winnipeg figure skater and holder of the North America intermediate indoor and outdoor speed skating crowns, has turned professional with Shipsted and Johnson's Ice Follies, it was learned today. She will join the troupe in Minneapolis. Another Winnipeg skater, Ann Drewery, will join the troupe later.

Beurling to Instruct

OTTAWA (CP) — Flt.-Lt. George (Buzz) Beurling, multi-decorated ace from Verdun, Que., is slated to leave operational flying in Britain to teach his deadly flying-gunnery tactics to fledgling R.C.A.F. trainees in Canada, it was learned reliably here Thursday. No announcement was made as to when Beurling would arrive in Canada or to which station he would be posted.

Muddy Track for Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—A breath-taking two minutes will tick off the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday, but owners of the prospective starters were talking in short breaths today over the prospects of the first muddy track for the event since Clyde Van Dusen wallowed home to victory over 15 years ago.

The names of 12 to 17 thoroughbreds were expected to be dropped into the entry box when the deadline arrived this morning. How many of the owners will risk paying the final $500 to start will depend upon the condition of the track 45 minutes before post time Saturday.

A 14-hour rain that quit for a while and then resumed again Thursday night left the Churchill Downs racing strip a sloppy mess. However, unless more rain falls today, or tonight, the track may drain off, making it at least slow, if not muddy. The track is noted for its speedy drying qualities.

Only two of the 17 trainers who hope to saddle their prized three-year-olds in the mile and a quarter race over tradition-hallowed Churchill Downs looked upon track conditions with discouragement. B. R. Paton, owner of Valley Flares, said his horse would not start if conditions were unfavorable. A. J. "Whitey" Abel, the self-professed "poor man's" owner of Gramp's Image, said his thoroughbred did not care too much for mud, but would start regardless.

John Gaver, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's favored Stir Up, said rain or mud would make no difference.

PROBABLE LINE-UP

Probable line-up for the race with owners, jockeys and probable odds follow:

Stir Up, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Eddie Arcaro, 7-5; Pensive, Warren Wright, Cohn McCreary, 6-1; Challenge Me, O. E. Breault, Tony Skoronski, 10-1; Skytracer, M. B. Goff, Mike Caffarelle, 4-1; Broadcloth, Mrs. George Poulson, George Woolf, 8-1; Gramps Image, Mrs. A. J. Abel, Otto Grohs, 12-1; Alorter, A. M. C. Ernst, Johnny Adams, 20-1; Bellbuzzer, Dave Ferguson, Billy Thompson, 15-1; Autocrat, A. A. Baroni, Farril Zufelt, 25-1; Brief Sigh, Robert J. Dienst, Venancio Nodarse, 50-1; Shut Up, Joe Goldbrand, Ralph Eccard, 15-1, Gay Bit, Robert Bruce Livie, Jack Westrope, 30-1; Deavolaw, W. C. Hobson, Joe Molbert, 40-1; Comenow, Philip Godfrey, J. R. Layton, 60-1; American Eagle, J. V. Maggio, Jimmy Thornburg, 100-1; Valley Flares, B. R. Paton, George Burns, 100-1; Rockwood Boy, W. C. Davis, Bill Bailey, 100-1.

Catchy Names

Frank Mancusco, top, and Myron Hayworth give St. Louis Browns their best catching in years. Mancusco is brother of Giants' Gus, Hayworth of Dodgers' Ray.

Phillies Eye Top Slot

Cooper Loses Again

Morton Cooper, who won 21 games last year and hurled 24 complete games in 32 starts, has failed to go the route for St. Louis in three outings, including Thursday's 6-3 loss to Pittsburgh.

An injured ankle suffered when he was hit by a line drive in an exhibition shortly before opening day may be the answer. Pittsburgh and Cincinnati knocked him out of the box in two starts and he faded for a pinch-hitter with his team trailing by one-run in Thursday's effort.

Those Phillies can tie for the top if Cincy knocks off the Cardinals today and might sneak out in front all by themselves while the western rivals are quarrelling. Freddy Fitzsimmons' Jays were idle Thursday but move into Brooklyn today where they could make life rosy for Fat Freddy with a series victory over his old mates.

GIANTS ON SKID

Boston slid the New York Giants down the shoots for their fourth straight defeat, 8-4, with Connie Ryan, a former Polo Grounder, adding to their embarrassment with two singles and a homer that accounted for four runs.

The Cincinnati-Chicago game in the National was postponed and Brooklyn, like Philadelphia, was not scheduled.

Rookie Ed Lopat won his first big league game by hurling Chicago's White Sox to a 2-1 edge over Cleveland's Ray Kennedy.

St. Louis took advantage of the open date in the eastern half of the American League to tighten its grip on first by a 2-0 job against Detroit.

COAST LEAGUE

The San Diego Padres, after 22 scoreless innings in their last three contests, rebounded with a bang in Thursday night's Coast League baseball game with the Seattle Rainiers and when the dust settled on the base paths the Padres had scored a 15-1 victory.

The win left the Padres in a tie with the Rainiers for third place as San Francisco tumbled Los Angeles out of the upper half of the league standings by winning, 5-2. It was their third straight victory over the Angels.

Portland, in second place, and Hollywood likewise made it three straight in the current series. Portland scored a 1-0 win over last-place Sacramento while Hollywood won over Oakland, 9-4.

Marino Pieretti of Portland registered his third shutout of the season, allowing the Sacramento squad only four hits. Tod Davis of Hollywood hit a homer with two on to clinch the Stars victory over Oakland.

SUNDRA TO ARMY

ST LOUIS (AP)—Pitcher Steve Sundra, who has won two games for the St. Louis Brown, will report for military service next Tuesday and to offset his departure the Browns signed Denny Galehouse as a part-time player.

Galehouse, a rubber factory employee, will join the team each week-end to be available for a Sunday pitching assignment.

Whalley, Bates, Paul Give B.C. Canadian Fight Titles

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa sport fans, who like a little referee baiting, reflected today on what they enjoyed most at the Canadian army boxing finals here Thursday night—the brief but snappy bouts which saw 14 champions, including three B.C. men, crowned, or the novel experience of riding a referee they couldn't see? The Army arbiter, Capt. Gerry Goodwin of London, Ont., officiated from the ringside, aided by a public-address system.

The majority of fights went to boxers representing eastern Canada. In the open class eastern scrappers won six of the seven bouts, and in the novice class the westerners came off best, 4 to 3.

Gnr. Bobby Parker, Victoria, B.C., representing Pacific Command, dropped a decision to former Dominion titleholder Lieut. Joe Gagnon, Montreal, in the bantamweight open. Parker lost after a stiff slugging match which left him groggy and Gagnon bleeding from the mouth and nose.

B.C. WINNERS

Cpl. R. M. Whalley, New Westminster, decisioned Pte. Archie Sparrow of Burlington, Ont., who fought under Camp Borden's colors.

Fighting in the novice lightweight class, Cpl. George Paul, Chilliwack, blasted Pte. Henry Demassino, Montreal, for a clear-cut decision. The B.C. boy started from the bell and dropped his opponent three times in quick order before Referee Goodwin stopped the fight.

Pte. R. A. Folz, Vancouver, lost a decision to Tpr. Tom Walsh, Toronto, in the novice bantam division, while in the light heavy novice section, L.Cpl. Frederick Bates, Cumberland, took a decision from Pte. Gerard Laforest, Montreal.

Tpr. Len Wadsworth, Timmins, Ont., and Pte. Vern Escoe, Toronto, fighting in the open middleweight and heavy weight, respectively, had little trouble in capturing titles. The fighters, both experienced campaigners, scored technical knockouts.

CHAMPIONS

Here are the champions:

Rides Box Car With Derby Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—Dispatches from Derbyville . . . Trainer Whitey Abel travaled from Baltimore to Louisville in the same car with his Derby hope, Gramps Image. . . . It wasn't for lack of dough, either, for Gramps Image had just won the rich Chesapeake at Pimlico. . . . Phil Reilly, 70-year-old owner of Diavolaw, has a fine collection of pastels. Most race followers prefer pasteboards—with winning numbers. . . . Tip to bettors: Stir Up or Shut Up.

The unkindest cut.

When one of the Louisville newspapers referred to John Gaver, trainer of Stir Up, as a Harvard graduate, Gaver (Princeton '24) moaned: "I'm ruined. I might as well give up."

A rookie a day.

Bill Schuster, Cubs' shortstop—known as Buffalo Bill when he tried out with Pittsburgh in 1937, fresh out of the U. of Buffalo. The Cubs now call him "Green Hornet" because of his verbal buzzing. . . . He's 34 years old and had a long career in the picture Coast League, placing fourth in the most valuable player poll last year. . . . A good tap dancer, but his .276 batting average at Los Angeles indicates he doesn't just tap the ball.

FRANCE FROM THE INSIDE

"France in Sunshine and Shadow"; by Tryphosa Bates-Batcheller, published by Brentano's, New York.

THE AUTHOR of "France in Sunshine and Shadow" is a descendant of one of Massachusetts' old and distinguished families. Mrs. Tryphosa Bates-Batcheller has spent much of her life in Europe. She knows France, its people, rulers, politicians, nobility, musicians, artists and authors intimately and has been called the most successful woman ambassador without portfolio America has ever had. She received her early education in French schools and at the Sorbonne and returned to major in English at Radcliffe College. She studied singing in France and Italy. She has said her life has been music and literature.

"France in Sunshine and Shadow" presents a realistic description of France, not only in the war-dark days, but gives a bright and brilliant picture of gay and sunny France in its happy pre-war fetes, balls and pleasures in general. After war was declared the author was determined to stay on in her home at St. Cloud. She lived under Nazi domination for over a year. During those dark, awful months before the fall of France, she watched the agony and suffering. The Germans were winning. The French armies could not hold. Down the streets, past her house, came the exhausted, often wounded, betrayed French soldiers in their last retreat, uniforms torn, carrying no arms and dragging one foot after another. Despair was written on their faces. Then came the day when Hitler passed her door on his way to Versailles. He did not go to Paris at once as so many have said. The book clears up many little-understood points regarding the fall of France, as well as giving a vivid description of living under German tyranny.

When it became imperative for Americans to leave France, the author was determined to take her Italian companion with her to America. Her knowledge of German, as well as her fearlessness and tact, eventually helped to bring them both out of Nazified France and to America.

DOUGLAS AND HIS AIRCRAFT

"Sky Master—The Story of Donald Douglas," by Frank Cunningham. (Dorrance & Co., Philadelphia).

THE name "Douglas" is widely respected in world aviation circles. And well it might be, for out of the Douglas Aircraft Co. plan at Santa Monica, Cal., have come airplanes that have helped to write history.

Douglas was interested in aviation from his boyhood, as were most aviation pioneers. Educated at Annapolis and M.I.T., he became chief engineer for the Martin Aircraft Corp. In 1920 he organized his own firm, whose first product was the "Cloudster." In 1924 he won the recognition of the world when four United States Army Douglas DWC planes accomplished the first trip around the world by air.

Much water passed under the bridge and many designs came off the drawing boards until the year 1931, when the well-established Douglas Company went to work on plans for an airliner to surpass all existing competition in its field. Douglas gathered around him some of the finest aviation brains in the world.

In 1933 the Douglas Commercial-1 made its bow. In its test flights it performed gratifyingly, and as the DC-2 it broke or set a total of 19 records for craft of its type. As the DC-3 it is a vital cog in our national and international transportation system. As the Air Transport Command's C-47 it is carrying fighting men and supplies to all the corners of the global conflict.

Also in the service of the United Nations' air arm is the Douglas "Boston," the first Douglas plane to see action in this war. It is a fast, heavily-gunned attack craft. In the Pacific theatre the hard-hitting Douglas "Dauntless" dive bomber is unfavorably influencing the Japanese sphere of influence. Now starting to roll off the production lines is the four-engined big brother of the C-47, the C-54.

The pride and joy of every Douglas employee is the titanic B-19, largest landplane in the world.

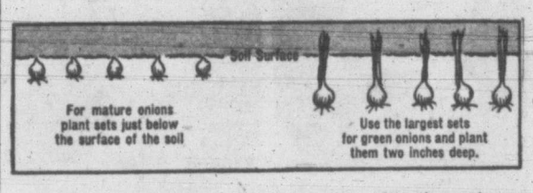
Your Garden . . . .

Onions From Seeds or Sets



Quality, texture of soil is important in cultivating onions.

By HENRY L. PREE

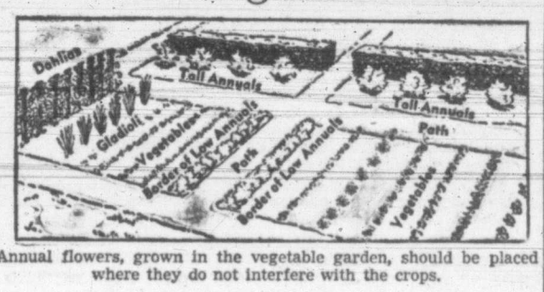
THE onion is one of the hardiest of vegetables. In the south, it is grown largely as a winter crop. In the north, seeds are sown or "sets" planted as early as possible in spring. Ground should be prepared well in advance of sowing. The soil must be fine and loose, as seeds are small and germination is slow. The onion is a heavy feeder and demands a rich soil. Cultivation must be practiced to keep down weeds. A mucky, but well-drained soil is preferred, but onions will yield a splendid harvest in a sandy soil, well supplied with organic matter and lime; onions like a sweet soil.

Seed may be sown even before the danger of late frost has passed, in rows 12 to 15 inches apart. Sow one-half inch deep and cover with fine soil. A side dressing with a fertilizer strong in nitrogen or with nitrate of soda, plus an abundance of moisture, will insure onions of good size in approximately 120 days. Be sure to tamp the soil over the seeds immediately after sowing. Scant sowing will reduce much labor of thinning. Onions should stand two inches apart in the rows. The average yield per 50 feet of row is about three-fourths of a bushel.

Most gardeners, because they cannot get seed into the ground in early spring, resort to onion sets. These are merely ordinary onions whose growth has been arrested and, when planted, will resume growth. Be sure to purchase small and firm sets, with the largest about one-half inch in diameter. If they are larger than this, they tend to run to seed rather than to develop into good bulbs. Raising onions from sets insures success if the soil is well fertilized, weeds kept down and adequate moisture applied.

Plant larger sets 1½ inches apart and two to three inches below the surface and use for green onions or scallions. Plant the smaller sets just below the surface, three to four inches apart. Be sure to firm the soil well about each bulblet, water immediately, and add additional fine soil to insure complete coverage. Sets may be planted with the earliest crops and successive plantings are made as long as they are firm and plump. Green onions are ready in less than a month, and mature bulbs in about 100 days.

Flowers Brighten Garden



Annual flowers, grown in the vegetable garden, should be placed where they do not interfere with the crops.

By HENRY L. PREE

THE same principles of gardening are applied to both flower and vegetable culture, so no different preparation of the soil is necessary. However, the seed bed should be of finely sifted or screened sandy soil.

Low growing annuals such as dwarf petunias and dwarf marigolds, may be used to edge the walks. Gladioli and dahlias in the far end of the garden will provide a background for tomatoes and similar vegetables. A complete balanced plant food should be worked into the soil before seed is sown.

Petunia Cheerful, with clear-salmon-pink flowers, 2½ inches and more across, plants for a mound 10 inches high with a spread of 2 feet, is wonderful for cutting. Gallardia, Pinhwheel—single flowers 2½ inches across, intense wine-red at the centre, tint to a cherry-pink towards the outside. Torenia fourmeri, Wishbone Flowers, bushy globular plants, 6 to 9 inches tall, covered with richly colored snapdragon-like flowers grow vigorously during hot weather in sunshine or shade.

Caltness and Unwin dahlias produce branching plants 2 to 3 feet tall, bearing single or double flowers 3 inches broad. They are as easily grown as zinnias and and blossom in 60 days from seed, unsurpassed for cut flowers, blooming until fall frost. Linarias (Baby Snapdragons) are free-flowering plants in bright and pastel tones, most suitable for bordering the walk or flower beds.

Famous Breeder of Plants Geo. Fraser, Ucluelet, Dies

George Fraser, 90, plant breeder and botanist, who helped make the picturesque village of Ucluelet famous to many tourist from all parts of North America, died on Wednesday at his home there.

Mr. Fraser was born in Scotland and early in life developed a love for the soil. He seemed to have a natural bent for growing flowers and grafting. His earliest horticultural training was received in the gardens and grounds of Gordon Castle, under the late John Webster, noted gardener and hybridizer. Later he worked in the gardens of Hartfield House on the Clyde.

More than 60 years ago, Mr. Fraser came to B.C. and in 1894 settled at Ucluelet. There he developed his magnificent gardens, mostly of heather, rhododendrons and roses, which he found grew beautifully in the rugged west coast climate. Tourists always visited his gardens, on the side of the hill and came away with a bit of heather or a rose, for Mr. Fraser was a generous man.

Mr. Fraser developed the famous Nootka rose, produced through the crossing of the H. T. Richmond with the native rose Nutkana. He crossed also many rhododendrons; it was in 1912 that he crossed the rhododendron Canadiensis with the azalea Japonica, the resulting shrub being, an infertile, lilac-flowered, hardy deciduous azalea to which Kew Gardens gave the name rhododendron Fraseri.

Mr. Fraser did a great deal for the horticultural world and his name was known among horticulturists in Britain and the eastern United States. The Gardeners' Chronicle of London, a few years ago, said this of Mr. Fraser: "Among the many British horticulturists who have done much for the advancement of horticulture in Canada, George Fraser ranks with the foremost and his reputation as a plant hybridizer is widespread, as also are the results of his work. With a view to raising new plants, Mr. Fraser has chiefly confined his attention to the genera ribes, rubus, fragaria, pyrus and rhododendron."

GEORGE FRASER
. . . snapped by a Princess Norah passenger.

Before he went to Ucluelet, Mr. Fraser lived some years in Victoria, organizing a horticultural business and taking part on the planning of Beacon Hill Park in the 90's. For a time he had a large farm in the Mount Tolmie area.

Amateur Gardener

By E. L. F.

NOW is the time to plant marrow seeds in the open garden. You may have a heap of well-rotted sods, turf, or garden rubbish stacked ready for them. However, you can sow just as well on the flat ground. In fact, in light, sandy soil it is better, for the plants dry out too much on a mound.

Should the rubbish heap be used, provided it is one which is well rotted down, there is no need to go to any more trouble than to sow the seeds on top in small mounds of the same material as the heap, spacing these mounds three feet apart. There will be quite enough food in the heap to feed the plants as they grow.

SUNNY SPOT NEEDED

For sowing on the flat ground, choose a sunny spot. (It won't do to sow behind runner beans, broad beans or any other tall-growing crop.)) At intervals of three feet take out a hole big enough to hold two good palls of manure, equal parts of manure and leaves or compost heap. Press the material down firmly and on top of each heap form a 12-inch wide, 9-inch high mound of good garden soil, or a mixture of loam, leaf mould, manure and sand.

There are two types of marrow, bush and trailing. In a small garden the bush type, which does not develop long, trailing shoots, is best. When you get the seed, steep it overnight in clear water to speed up germination. Then, at the center of each mound, sow three to five seeds in a circle, a quarter to a half inch deep. (Later you will reduce this number to one strong plant.) Press them into the earth on their edge, using the tip of your finger. This is a method that ensures a perfect seedling. If you sow the seed flat, the seed skin will come up with the seed leaves, trap them, and spoil the plant.

Weather is changeable in May, so it will be a wise precaution to cover each seed after sowing with a glass jar. It will help germination as well as give protection. And, if there is any doubt of the weather after the seedlings appear, put the jars over them at night for a week or two. Marrows cannot, at that early stage, withstand even the slightest hint of frost.

Remember, if you are buying marrow plants instead of sowing seed, even if they do appear on the market now, it is still too early to set them out without some good means of protection in the way of a cold frame or hot caps. One early morning frost will shrivel the seedlings and stunt their growth.

The Apple Sawfly

By W. DOWNES
Government Entomologist

IN JUNE, when young apples are about an inch in diameter, the ravages of the apple sawfly become evident. Normally, in June, numbers of small apples may fall from the trees, the result of more fruit being formed than the tree is able to mature. But when the little apples are found to have one or more large holes in the side, the cause of the fruit dropping is attack by the apple sawfly. When cut open fruit which has been attacked will be found to be extensively eaten and full of black decaying matter.

IN SAANICH NOW

This pest appeared in Victoria several years ago, and is gradually spreading in Saanich. Adult flies begin to appear just when the earliest apples are coming into bloom. The eggs are laid in the calyx of the blossom. They are pushed through the side of the calyx and lie at the base of the filaments.

Spraying must be carried out immediately after the bloom has fallen. If the time of spraying is delayed for more than a week or 10 days after blossom fall failure may result. The cheapest and easiest spray to use is an emulsion of a light viscosity petroleum oil diluted with water and with nicotine sulphate added. The right kind of oil must be used; ordinary lubricating oil or coal oil will not do. A suitable oil is one having a viscosity of 45 to 55 degrees. Such oils are sold in bulk by all leading oil companies, but are not obtainable at filling stations since they are used only for special purposes. Small quantities, however, can be obtained from certain dealers in spray materials in the city.

To make the emulsion, dissolve one ounce of powdered skim milk or powdered whole milk in four ounces of water in a quart bowl and add two teaspoons of household ammonia. Add half a pint of oil slowly while beating with an egg beater until a creamy white emulsion is formed. It is essential to add the oil slowly. Dilute this quantity with three gallons of water and add four teaspoons of nicotine sulphate. It is advisable also to add six tablespoons of lead arsenate for the purpose of destroying pests other than sawfly, such as caterpillars and other biting insects. This spray will keep apple trees free from pests for several weeks.

It cannot be mixed with lime sulphur and should not be used within a month of using lime sulphur. In applying the spray care should be taken to direct it at the centre of the calyces, as the object is to reach and destroy the sawfly eggs. Heavy pressure is not necessary to get results, and good control can be obtained with small hand pumps provided that a thorough job is done. In experimental work during the last two years more than 99 per cent clean apples have been obtained by the use of this spray, while unsprayed trees have shown a loss as high as 75 per cent.

Further information can be obtained on application to the entomologist's office, Parliament Buildings.

Mexico's Siestas Routed By War

By LARRY F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The siesta in Mexico will fall victim to the war June 1 under terms of a presidential decree.

No more will stores pull down their steel shutters for three or four hours while the clerks go home to eat.

The foreign office's hours—now 10 to 1 and 5 to 9—will be changed to a continuous work day beginning at 8 a.m. Only enterprises now having two or three shifts will be exempt from the change.

The preface to Manuel Avila Camacho's presidential decree pointed out that nearly everybody who went home to eat took four bus trips a day instead of two. This was termed wearing out buses, difficult to replace, and tires, scarce and expensive.

The decree also said elimination of late afternoon work hours would result in a saving of electricity, scarce here because of a drought last year which emptied hydro-electric reservoirs. In addition, the "continuous hours" of work will give the average man more time for sports and to spend at home.

Hungarians Asked To Join Allies

Count Lonyay, leader of the Free Hungarian movement in London, has issued an appeal to his compatriots living outside Hungary, according to word received by Mrs. John Irving, 1636 Rockland Avenue, from her daughter, Mrs. Milman, wife of Paymaster Capt. H. A. Milman, O.B.E., who served on the reparations commission in southern Europe following the last war and who became a friend of Lonyay.

Lonyay says that once again Hungary has been betrayed by Horthy and his gang.

"Now," says Lonyay, "it is the duty of every true Hungarian patriot to act without delay. There is no time to continue the quarrel about petty political questions. We have to take up arms against the invaders. We must prepare to go and join the Hungarian guerrillas."

Hungarians in Great Britain are urged to join the British army, Hungarians elsewhere the armies of the other Allies.

A two-foot camass, with 53 bells, believed to be a record in this area, was brought to the Times today by Mrs. D. L. McLaurin, who found it in the Gonzales Bay area.

A cheque for $100 from the Queen City, Chapter No. 5, Eastern Star, was received today by Mayor Andrew McGavin for forwarding to the Lord Mayor of London to aid victims of the blitz.

Willows, Sidney Barracks Examined For Housing Use

Army barracks at the Willows and Sidney were being examined today by National Housing authorities with a view of determining what changes will be necessary to convert them for housing families instead of troops.

In the meantime several families which have been forced to move have been provided with homes.

One family of six visited Mayor Andrew McGavin today for assistance to secure a home. The family was offered an old house on Douglas Street which had been designated for destruction. The mayor said the house would be habitable at this time of the year.

Mayor McGavin wired Acting Prime Minister J. L. Ralston, outlining the situation, Thursday night.

Protesting the time wasted in getting licenses for building new homes, he said that present conditions would never have arisen but for the complicated requirements and unnecessary restrictions, which caused delay of six weeks or more before contractors could commence operations.

He suggested local officials be authorized to approve the building plans. These officials, he said, were conversant with local conditions of labor and materials and should have been consulted at the start.

The mayor charged discrimination between Wartime Housing Ltd., National Housing and individual builders.

Elsewhere it was reported several score of homes were now under construction and if completion could be rushed the acute housing lack would be relieved.

In Police Court

One motorist was fined $10 in police court today for failing to report an automobile accident which occurred on April 2. A cyclist was fined $5 for failing to obey the lawful direction of a police officer. Six other motorists were fined a total of $27.50 for traffic violations. One man was fined $25 or five days in jail for drunkenness. Magistrate H. C. Hall gave him permission to seek remission of the sentence from the Attorney-General when the accused pleaded the fine would work a hardship on his family.

Summer In May As Usual Here But It Surprises Newcomers

By AILEEN MERRETT

Summer in May, which is an old story to Victoria, has been drawing delighted comment from visitors this week, some of whom arrived in the capital city with furs and overcoats, only to shed them for light summer dresses and suits.

When the mercury hit 74 degrees Wednesday, Victorians old and young alike, knew that once more summer had put in her appearance a good six weeks ahead of the calendar.

"There have been no records set this year. It is just our usual nice weather," said Weatherman William Burton when called upon to make an official pronouncement. "In May of 1912 the mercury went as high as 84 degrees, and on May 6, 1942, it reached 74 degrees. Yesterday it was 72 degrees."

And Mr. Burton's forecast for today and Saturday—moderate winds, fair and warm.

Already youngsters have begun swimming at Langford and Shawnigan and some city stores are preparing for a rush this weekend on their bathing-suit counters and general summer-holiday equipment. The stores are featuring their gayest summer footwear in many a year.

Homemakers coming to town for their morning round of shopping in light dresses, young business girls with leg-paint instead of stockings on, and boys and girls planning bicycle hikes and picnics, are all signs of summer's arrival.

Ice cream parlors and soda fountains are crowded day and night, a steady stream of visitors and residents with cameras in hand, pour into Beacon Hill Park to see the flowers in bloom, and men and women who like to sit in the sun and just watch the crowds go by, are filling the seats along the causeway.

Only man in town who is as yet unaffected by the weather, is the coal man, who says people keep up a steady pace with their orders, many putting in calls for coal at future dates.

"Very warm for May," might be the comment in any other city but in Victoria, according to old-time residents, it's just the kind of weather to be expected right about now.

Plastic Surgery For Lieut. Doug Willard

Lieut. Doug. Willard, 23, well-known athlete of Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Willard, 1040 Empress Avenue, is in a plastic hospital in England after being hit on the side of the face by a piece of shrapnel, according to word received by his parents here.

He writes that an operation has been performed on his ear and he expects to be around again shortly, his face as good as ever. Doug is a native son, was educated at Boys' Central and Victoria High, joined the army as a buck private, gained his lieutenancy two years ago. He was a member of the Victoria Rep rugby team and captain of the Canadian Scottish rugby team.

Canned Grapefruit Juice Available in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — First canned grapefruit juice in more than two years arrived here Thursday and will be put in the hands of retailers shortly. Officials said there will be no rationing or other restrictions on its purchase. The cans are 48-ounce tins.

Within a matter of days canned grapefruit juice will be seen on the shelves of Victoria stores and plentiful supplies will be available for some time to come, C. A. Conrad, official of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board here, said today.

Supplies are being equally distributed all across Canada, he said, and each centre's share will be a quota based on supplies used in 1941. He did not know what Victoria's share would be.

TOWN TOPICS

Oak Bay police report the recovery of the stolen army motorcycle, military number C-2-075, by military authorities. The motorcycle, which is believed to have been stolen during the Willows fire, was found abandoned and covered with brush just off Neil Street.

A sergeant, who had been absent without leave for over four months and was arrested by army provost corps police on Wednesday, yesterday escaped from Bay Street Armory, city police have been informed.

Prof. E. S. Farr of Victoria College has left to attend a commission on the church, nation and world order to be held under the auspices of the United Church of Canada in Toronto May 9 to 12.

E. Moffat, manager, North Pacific Health and Accident Association, will speak on health and accident insurance at a meeting of the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association in the Oak Bay Fire Hall at 7.30 this evening.

Answering a fire alarm shortly after 10 this morning, Victoria firemen got a scare when they saw what appeared to be smoke rising from the Royal Victoria Theatre. Soon after they discovered someone had lighted a rubbish fire against the wall of the theatre at the back, and the smoke was pouring up against the bricks, giving the false impression. The fire was quickly doused and orders given to burn the rubbish elsewhere.

Milling Accident

Norman Moore, 3075 Albany Avenue, 37-year-old employee of the Cameron Lumber Company, was taken to Jubilee Hospital early this morning when his left arm was severely cut while he was working on a plane feeder.

Seek Compensation For Damage to Pipes

The city water board, considering a 34-page report on damage to water mains alleged to have been caused by electrolysis attributed to the street railway system, today recommended to the City Council that negotiations be opened with the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. to compensate the city for such damage.

The report set the damage at $7,524 at Dec., 1943, since Sept., 1939. It said this sum represented the cost of repairs to pipes.

The report was prepared by Kenneth Reid, electrical engineer; G. M. Irwin, city engineer, and F. L. Shaw, city solicitor. Long investigations with specially purchased instruments were made by Mr. Reid.

According to the report damage to the city water mains has been apparent for 30 years, and "examination of the locations where the repairs to pipes had been made . . . definitely leads to the conclusion that the trouble could not be due to natural soil corrosion."

"We recommend that this whole matter be taken up with the company with a view of having it take the necessary steps to protect the city's waterworks system from damages from electrolytic action, and if the company fails or refuses to take such steps that application be made to the Public Utilities Commission to have regulations made compelling the company to conduct its operations in such a manner that it does not necessarily interfere with, or cause unnecessary damage to the city waterworks system."

Naval Display All Day Saturday

Tomorrow the Canadian Navy will display naval armament equipment on trucks and trailers at View Street, between Douglas and Broad. PO. F. Brown, of Victoria, will be in charge of a group of naval instructors who will explain workings of everything on display to the public.

The navy band, under Warrant Officer Stan Sunderland, will play during the morning and afternoon, and will be heard over the air, over station CJVI from 3 to 3.30.

Also heard on the air will be the presentation of prizes for the Victory Loan window display contest in which local merchants have taken part. Prizes will be presented by Duncan MacBride, chairman of the Victory Loan Publicity Committee. They were donated by David Spencer Ltd., the B.C. Cement Co., and the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co.

Another highlight of the afternoon will be a talk by AB. Tom Morris, R.N., who has seen action on many waters, and will describe his experiences under fire.

Capt. Alan Chambers Back in Britain

By HARRY HODGES

OTTAWA—Capt. Alan Chambers, M.P. for Nanaimo, arrived in the United Kingdom today. It is understood he will be appointed to the intelligence staff of "an Allied headquarters" in England for special duty. Capt. Chambers was senior Canadian intelligence officers at headquarters of the first Canadian division prior to and during the invasion of Sicily. Next month he will have completed four years of active service—more than half of which has been overseas. He returned to Canada 10 weeks ago to instruct at Royal Military College, Kingston.

Before the Nanaimo member left Ottawa, he gave me the following message to pass on to his constituents:

"I am still firmly of the conviction that the proper place for me as a young member of Parliament is with my comrades from the island overseas. To me, first things still come first, and I believe I can best serve the people of my constituency in this way. However, I cannot leave without reiterating my deep appreciation of the splendid co-operation of Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, who has made it easier for me to serve overseas by taking on the double burden of my constituency as well as his own."

Playground Plans Made By Oak Bay

A request will be made to Oak Bay Council for $250 to carry on the Oak Bay playground committee's supervised play program in the municipality's parks, as the result of a decision reached Thursday evening.

The committee heard a financial report from T. S. Whittemore, chairman, and letters of appreciation from Reeve W. L. Woodhouse, the municipal council and other sources for their activities last year.

Plans for the summer's activities were discussed, with particular attention to directed games and craft work during July and August. Two delegates were appointed to discuss with the parks committee possible extension of manual arts and junior play at the Oak Bay centres.

Large Subscriptions Boost Loan Total

Greater Victoria Victory Loan objective of $5,700,000 is being helped by a number of large subscribers, including municipalities. A cheque for $54,000 was sent to headquarters Thursday by the City of Victoria; $50,000 has been invested by the municipality of Oak Bay; $20,000 by the District of Saanich and $10,000 by the township of Esquimalt.

Thursday subscription of $20,000 by W. & J. Wilson was recorded. Canadian Press reported that four of British Columbia-Yukon's 43 units had gone over their quotas in the Sixth Victory Loan campaign.

Exceeding its quota of $915,000 Western Air Command set a new objective of $1,000,000 and since but 52 per cent of the personnel have invested so far, R.C.A.F officials were confident of reaching that total. George Kidd, chairman of the B.C.-Yukon National War Finance Committee, will present Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson with the air force honor pennant, at the Bond Shell, Monday. Armed forces division reached 118 per cent Thursday. Navy in Vancouver district reached 200 per cent of its quota.

Sixty-three per cent of the $120,000,000 objective has been invested to date in the British Columbia-Yukon division, leaving the division short of its quota by $43,656,800.

Soviets Repulse German Attacks

LONDON (AP)—German probing attacks southeast of Stanislawow and south of Tiraspol were thrown back Thursday for the second successive day as the lull in ground fighting continued along other positions on the eastern front, Moscow announced in a broadcast communique today.

Near Stanislawow in the southeaster corner of old Poland German attempts to reconnoitre Soviet positions were beaten off in the morning and a Nazi attack against one Russian unit was hurled back in the afternoon, the Soviet communique said. It asserted about 800 Germans were killed and 12 Nazi tanks were destroyed.

Sixty Germans were declared to have been killed and wounded when Russian troops threw back an enemy reconnaissance detachment south of Tiraspol, a town 50 miles northwest of Odessa on the Dnestr River.

The broadcast communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor here, listed no essential changes on the land front, but declared long-range Soviet planes bombed and strafed German and Romanian troops pinned in the besieged Crimean city of Sevastopol Wednesday night.

Partisans Besiege Nazi Strongholds

LONDON (CP) — Partisan forces have surrounded the Yugoslav town of Mrkonjicgrad and are laying siege to the German garrison, which is offering strong resistance, a broadcast communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today.

The war bulletin, studded with reports of successes, also told of partisan units smashing their way into Uzice, 75 miles west of Sarajevo, on the main railway to Sofia, and wrecking the station, destroying the town and killing many enemy troops.

Three motorists paid fines totaling $25 for traffic offences in Saanich police court yesterday afternoon.

THE O.C. for an evening—last nite while the ladies of our house went to see Ginger Rogers, we were on baby fatigue, and so if you don't find this Spot as gay and pleasant as usual, this is the reason.

WE MANAGED to get the little one to sleep although she could only lie on her back because of the curlers in her hair . . . then we went chasing the others, down the street, playing softball.

BUT FIRST, may we do a commercial about this bedroom set-up . . . It's in gen. walnut, with one of those big round mirrors on the Vanity . . . satin waterfall styled . . . and Warehoused at $135.

THEN THE KIDS "got the giggles" . . . they had let the water out of the tub, and then soaped it, and were slithering all over the place . . . that's when we got stern, and that's what started the crying, and "Mama said we could have an orange before we got in bed."

HEANEY WAREHOUSE (Furniture Dept.)

WANT A KITCHEN BARGAIN . . . pretty varnished drop-leaf table, 4 Windsor (hardwood) chairs, $13.50 unfin., buffet if U need one.

Forest By-Products Lead to Greatest Employment Field

Scientific development of forest utilization, which will increase production capacity of by-products, and result in greater employment, will interest the people of British Columbia in future years, more than "astronomical lumber production figures," F. A. E. Manning, president of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, told members of the Rotary Club Thursday.

Speaking on the lumber industry of British Columbia "Past, Present and Future," Mr. Manning predicted a change in the nature of lumber operations in the province, with individual operations changing from large to small ones, but concluded his address by saying he considered the outlook bright for the future of the industry.

Referring to forest utilization, he told Rotarians that many times more money was spent in wages to produce a ton of paper, plastics, laminated material or other completely refined products than in manufacturing big timbers. The product would sell for more, he added.

"The Royal Commission now sitting in Victoria has the wholehearted support of the lumber industry, which realizes that its prosperity is indissolubly linked with that of the province, and that if it is to stay in business, everything must be done to extend the utilization of our forest products and perpetuate the forest crop," he said as he spoke of the need for a definite reforestation policy.

"The work now being done by the Forest Branch, the Powell River Company and the Comox Logging and Railway Co. at Ladysmith in their log waste salvage experiment is symbolic of the attitude of the industry toward such matters. It foreshadows a period of co-operative effort between the government and the industry which should be productive of very important results, when we are once more able to devote ourselves to peacetime pursuits."

Tracing the history of the lumber industry, Mr. Manning said it was now estimated that about 43 cents in every dollar of spending power in British Columbia was derived directly or indirectly from forest industries. First sawmill in the province was established at Parson's Bridge, near Victoria in 1846, he said.

"During the war years the Empire has been drawing heavily upon B.C.'s timber resources and postwar reconstruction needs assure a continuance of this demand.

Demands upon lumber resources far exceed the supply, he said. H. Pendray introduced the speaker and G. Hamilton Harman gave the vote of thanks. James Little, president, was in the chair. New members to Rotary Club were John Gough, Ernest Heybroek and G. H. Davey.

Would Halt Illegal Fishing On West Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Steps to put an end to illegal fishing of halibut off the west coast of Vancouver Island now are being discussed by the Department of Fisheries, J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries, said in an interview here.

Halibut fishermen and vessel owners were told at a meeting Wednesday night that there is much illegal fishing of halibut off the west coast of Vancouver Island by some Canadian and U.S. beam trawlers. In addition there is wasteful dumping of the carcasses after valuable livers have been cut out.

Where to Go Tonight
(As Advertised)

ATLAS—"My Kingdom for a Cook," starring Charles Coburn.
CADET — Humphrey Bogart in "Sahara."
CAPITOL — "Lady in the Dark," starring Ginger Rogers and Warner Baxter.
DOMINION — "Intermezzo" starring Ingrid Bergman.
OAK BAY-PLAZA — "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," starring Maria Montez.
RIO — "A Scream in the Night," starring Hobart Cavnaugh.
YORK—Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea in "Primrose Path."

Green Piano Recital At Vic High Tonight

For her recital this evening at 8.30 in the Victoria High School auditorium, Gertrude Huntly Green, one of Canada's most distinguished pianists, has chosen a program of intrinsic merit. Major works will include the Bach organ "Toccata and Fugue in D minor," arranged for piano by Carl Tausig, and "Carnaval," Op. 9, by Robert Schumann, the latter being performed by special request.

The second half of the program will be devoted entirely to the music of Chopin, and will include: Ballade, Op. 47, No. 3; Nocturne, Op. 15, No. 2; two studies, Op. 25, Nos. 5 and 2, and the Polonaise, Op. 53.

The recital is being held under the auspices of the Victoria chapter of the Toronto Conservatory Alumni Association, Mrs. C. S. Beals, president. Proceeds are in aid of the Canadian Red Cross.

RIO THEATRE

"A Scream in the Dark" is the Republic dramatic offering to be seen at the Rio Theatre today. Robert Lowery and Marie McDonald share top honors, with Elizabeth Russell lending solid support. She is well known as a lovely looking "menace."

Cost of Living Rises Slightly

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports its official cost-of-living index, calculated on the basis that 1935-39 equals 100, advanced from 119.0 at March 1 to 119.1 at April 1 for a wartime increase of 18.2 per cent.

Fluctuations of the index are not reflected in wages as the cost-of-living bonus has been merged with basic wage rates, though the price and wage control program will be reviewed by the government if the index increases more than 3 per cent and remains at that level for two consecutive months.

Seasonal price increases for vegetables and oranges were mainly responsible for a rise in the food index from 131.1 to 131.5, despite minor declines for eggs, lard and meats. The clothing index rose fractionally from 121.3 to 121.4, while other group indexes remained unchanged as follows: Rents, 111.9; fuel and services, 118.4, and miscellaneous items, 109.

Ingrid Bergman In 'Intermezzo'

Ingrid Bergman, lovely star of "Casablanca" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls," is now at the Dominion Theatre in "Intermezzo." One of the screen's truly great romances, "Intermezzo" has a magnificent cast of players, headed by Ingrid Bergman, Leslie Howard, John Halliday and Edna Best.

The picture with its haunting music was produced by David C. Selznick.

ATLAS THEATRE

When Pierre and Marie Curie, two obscure physicists, announced to the world their isolation of the precious element radium, their recognition was instant. The way was opened for them to claim a place among the most famous scientists of all time. Recently Eve Curie published a biography of her famous parents entitled "Madame Curie," which became an international best-seller. Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer has brought this biography to the screen in a fine and impressive production starring Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon as the devoted mates. The film is now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Director Mitchell Leisen made sure that the wardrobes designed for Ginger Rogers, Phyllis Brooks and the other feminine principals of Paramount's technicolor "Lady in the Dark," fit them to perfection, by having the tailors from his own shop and haberdashery do the fitting and make necessary alterations on the set.

"Lady in the Dark" is now at the Capitol Theatre, with Warner Baxter, Ray Milland and John Hall co-starred with Ginger.

YORK THEATRE

What is said to be the season's most entertaining romantic drama is offered in RKO Radio's "Primrose Path." Ginger Rogers and Joel McCrea are co-starred in the picture, with Marjorie Rambeau, Henry Travers, Miles Mander, Queenie Vassar and little Joan Carroll featured, is now being shown at the York Theatre.

CADET THEATREE

Rex Ingram has three new additions to his large group of domestic pets. He caught them on the desert near where Columbia filmed "Sahara," the new Humphrey Bogart thriller, now showing at the Cadet Theatre. They are "Lou the Lizard," "Chuck the Chuchkawalla" and "Snappy the Snake."

OAK BAY - PLAZA THEATRES

Dashing Jon Hall and beautiful Maria Montez again are paired romantically on the screen in Universal's technicolor production, "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves," based on the ancient fable of Bagdad, currently being shown at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

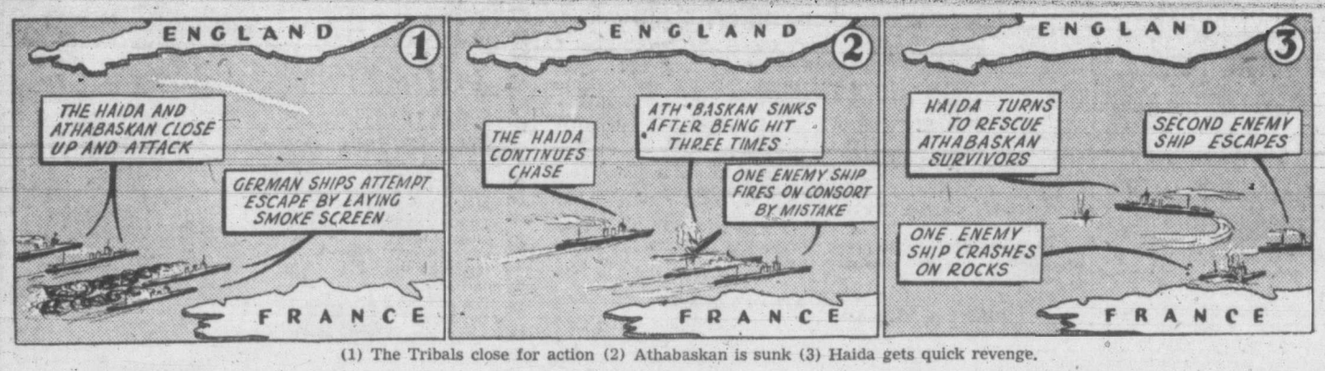
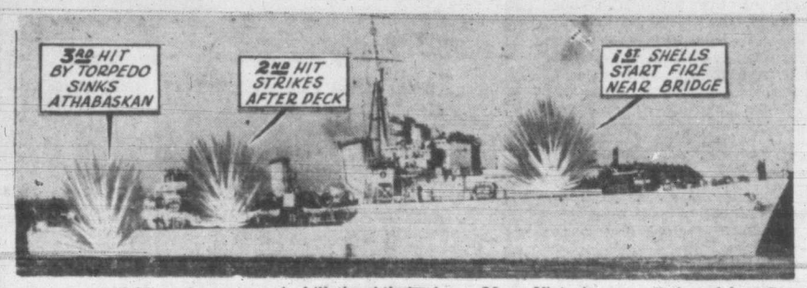
With Her Guns Blazing to the Last, Canadian Destroyer Athabaskan Went Down in English Channel



(1) The Tribals close for action (2) Athabaskan is sunk (3) Haida gets quick revenge.



Two hits by shellfire and one torpedo kill the Athabaskan. Many Victorians were aboard her. Some have been reported safe but a number are among the "missing."

Athabaskan's Missing 202; 16 Victorians

Four additional names contained in the official list of missing from the destroyer H.M.C.S. Athabaskan brings the total of Victoria and Island men now missing to 16.

Quartette not previously reported are:

Lt.-Cmdr. John Hamilton Stubbs, D.S.O.

CPO. Raymond Bruce Stenning.

Sto. PO. Douglas Thomas Landless Laurie.

LS. John Robert Kobes.

According to the official list issued at Ottawa Thursday night, a total of 202 officers and ratings are missing from the Athabaskan.

Lt.-Cmdr. Stubbs' mother, Mrs. J. H. Stubbs, resides at Seaview Road, Ten Mile Point. His sister, Mrs. Kenneth Tatlow, who came over this week to be with her mother, has returned to the mainland. Official casualty list gives Lt.-Cmdr. Stubbs' address as St. John's, Nfld. The Athabaskan's commander was born at Kaslo, B.C., and raised in Victoria. When last seen during the English Channel battle with Nazi destroyers, Lt.-Cmdr. Stubbs was said to be aboard a raft. It was believed to be his voice which called to the H.M.C.S. Haida to "get clear."

CPO. Stenning, 25, ship's cook, has a brother, C. G. Stenning, living at 2929 Cook Street. He enlisted at the beginning of the war, served as a cook at the Esquimalt station, was posted overseas and served at a Scottish base before being transferred to the Athabaskan.

LS. Kobes' wife makes her home at 605 Alpha Street. His parents live in Vancouver. He was originally reported to hail from there.

Sto. PO. Laurie's wife, Mrs. I. M. Laurie, resides at Tavers Apartments, Port Alberni.

Political Information For Troops of U.S.

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The War Department has instructed all army commanders to follow a "policy of strict impartiality in the dissemination of political information" to troops and issued an outline of its instructions.

The soldier vote law, the department said, permits "rebroadcasts of political speeches over government - controlled stations provided equal time is given each party." The army's morale services division is held responsible for such rebroadcasts.

"And if our lines should give and bend
For lack of things you
failed to send . . .
That extra ship, that tank,
that plane
For which we waited
all in vain . . .
Will you then come to
take the blame?
For we and you must pay the cost
Of battles, you, not we, have lost!"

'GOOD PURE WATER DESTROYED'

At last the guilty secret is out. We have been told by the mayor the water has been chlorinated for the last six weeks.

Several times in the last few weeks the water has been so strong it has made the lips burn and swell. It has also played "the dickens" with the throat, stomach and rheumatism. To my mind, the city engineer has misjudged the intelligence of the people of Victoria when he said recently: "The date of chlorination would be kept a secret."

It would be interesting to know why some of our local doctors did not have something to say about this infernal stunt on our water. The same can be said of our ministers of the Gospel. Are they not supposed to be Christians? Yet they would stand by and see that which God gave us, good pure water, destroyed.

(Mrs.) Adelaide B. Marshall.
1075 Verrinder Ave.

FROM A SEAMAN

As I am a seaman myself, in the merchant marine, I know what a few books can do for relaxation and increasing knowledge of world affairs.

A gramophone brings back memories of places, and girls in some dance halls, theatres and concerts. The one break in the day is to sit down to dinner and listen to popular and classic music during meals. O yes, there are sailors which like classical music just the same as swing.

As some trips take six to eight months to complete the voyage, reading material during that time is torn to shreds from passing on to other members of the crew. And in no other country can one buy books as interesting as Canadian and American issues.

Concerning electrical appliances, an iron is used every time a ship comes into a port. Concerning a toaster, we'll just say that's going 24 hours a day. And it really is!

I would be very glad to think that my letter might be of help in urging books and appliances to the Navy League for adoption on our merchant fleet.

G. C. HANSEN,
(A Merchant Seaman.)

Writes Jack Benny

A letter to Jack Benny, in which he voiced the disappointment of Benny's Victoria fans at not hearing mention of the reception he received here over last Sunday's broadcast, was sent by George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, the day after the broadcast.

"Many of your admiring fans, resident in this city, listened with much interest to the broadcast that you made from Bremerton yesterday, and needless to say, most of them were disappointed when they heard several references made of the boat trip from Vancouver to Seattle," Mr. Warren wrote. The trip to Seattle was made from Victoria.

He asked Mr. Benny if it would be possible to mention the visit to Victoria over his next broadcast from Whidby Island.

COLUMBUS RICHLY HONORED BY MANY PLACE NAMES

Few men in history have been honored so richly by having places named after them as Christopher Columbus. During his lifetime he met little reward for his work, but since his death people have done one thing after another to mark him as one of the heroes of history.

Columbus never stepped on the soil of North America, but his name is used for places which are located far and wide over this continent.

The largest area in North America named for Columbus is British Columbia, the great Canadian province which borders the Pacific ocean. In addition, the largest river which flows into the Pacific is the Columbia.

The capital of South Carolina is Columbia, and the same name has been given to several other cities, as well as to 11 villages and 15 counties. Canada has a Lake Columbia and the national capital of the United States is in the District of Columbia.

The capital of Ohio is Columbus and there are 19 other American cities and villages called Columbus. Ontario has a village with that name.

A French city, which had 62,000 people in 1940, is named Colombes.

The island of Ceylon has the city of Colombo with 310,000 people. I know that city very well since I spent a long vacation there as a patient in a hospital! The first name of Colombo seems to have been "Kalon Totta." This later was changed to "Kalambu." When the Portuguese took over the city in 1517, they wrote the name "Colombo," thus honoring their hero, Columbus. The British got control of Ceylon in 1796, and were content to keep the name of Colombo.

"Colombo" is an Italian way of spelling Columbus. It was used in making the name of Colombia, a republic in South America.

The Spanish way of spelling Christopher Columbus is "Cristobal Colon." Thus the twin cities of Cristobal and Colon in the Panama canal area have both of the names of Columbus!

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Cooler Summers Warmer Winters

Something has been done to equalize the extreme heat of July and the bitter cold of January—and to bring greater year-round comfort to thousands of Canadian home-owners. That important "something" is Johns-Manville Rock Wool Insulation, which many far-sighted people are ordering right now.

These people aren't taking chances on delays such as occurred last fall and winter when there was an unprecedented demand for J-M Home Insulation. By insulating their homes now they ensure lower room temperatures in the hot weather this summer — and fuel savings up to 30% next winter.

For free copy of government booklet: "House Insulatoin in Its Relation to Canada's War Effort," write to Canadian Johns-Manville, 199 Bay Street, Toronto.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

EN ROUTE EAST

WELL, HERE I am "going places" again! And before I return to Victoria several weeks hence I shall have visited in Ottawa, Montreal, New York and Washington, D.C.

In the meantime, this is being written (rather shakily) on a train which is steadily climbing towards Field.

It is a heavenly day of brilliant sunshine, with fleecy clouds like bits of cotton wool dotting the azure sky.

LEAVE SPRING BEHIND

OVERNIGHT, WE have gone back from spring to winter. Snow lies at the side of the tracks.

But it is not the pristine white covering of early winter. Rather grimy patches cling to the banks, and hang over the smaller trees and undergrowth like dishevelled, soiled drapery.

Turbulent streams, swollen by the melting snows, rush past the train windows, dashing madly over boulders and hurrying madly towards some distant lake or river.

MAJESTIC GRANDEUR

HERE AND THERE, in some favored cleft reached by the sun, a waterfall hangs like a spangled veil against the dark drift of the pines.

And over all, the peaks rise in majestic grandeur, defiantly wearing their diadem of the eternal snows, sun-crowned.

LONELY ISOLATION

THERE IS SOMETHING tremendously inspiring in the stark ruggedness of the Rockies and their primeval forests. One feels very humble and insignificant in their presence.

So I wonder what it must be like to live in their shadow? I am afraid I would find them too overwhelming.

That, at least, was my reaction just now as we passed a little clearing and I saw a young woman and child standing in the doorway, waving as we passed.

Probably the family of a section hand, living in hermit isolation on the rim of a precipitous gorge.

Oh! That exclamation was evoked by a pile of rusted tin cans by the side of the track. "Civilization" has even penetrated here, high up in the Rockies!

MY FELLOW-TRAVELERS

IN ADDITION TO the passing scene, I find my usual interest in my fellow-travelers in the observation car.

Opposite me sits a rather dour-looking woman who has never smiled—even at her husband—and never stopped knitting since she boarded the train in Vancouver.

Her needles go with a relentless air reminiscent of the knitting women in "The Tale of Two Cities."

And her eyes seem oblivious to everything else, even the imperial majesty of the mountains.

'LOT OF WASTE LAND'

APROPOS OF SCENERY—a rather aggressive easterner has just loudly proclaimed:

"There's an awful lot of waste land in this country. And it isn't fit for much else but scenery!"

I caught an amused twinkle in the eye of a naval padre with a wonderful face—the sort of face which inspires confidence and suggests a lovable, human personality.

I wanted to cuddle the adorable baby of about six months old, an airman's child.

It smiled with blue eyes and rosebud mouth as elderly men chucked it under the chin and talked fatuously to it. Then resumed its contented sucking of a rattle.

ETERNAL DRAMA

ON A TRAIN in the Rockies you realize how truly the poet whose name I don't remember said:

"To me it seems as if when God conceived the world that was poetry; He formed it and that was sculpture; He varied and colored it and that was painting; and then, crowning all, He peopled it with living beings, and that was the grand, divine, eternal drama."

C.P.R. Officers Change Positions

WM. MANSON

GEO. H. BAILLIE

H. C. GROUT

William Manson of Vancouver has been appointed general manager, western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway. He will have headquarters in Winnipeg. Mr. Baillie, who has been general superintendent for the C.P.R. at Calgary, will become general superintendent at Vancouver, replacing Mr. Manson. Mr. Grout has resigned as general manager of western lines to accept a position with the Soo Line at Minneapolis. All are well known in western Canada and have frequently visited Victoria. C.P.R. officers of the B.C. district tendered a farewell luncheon to Mr. Manson in Vancouver yesterday at which he was presented with a smoking set.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flour business returned to the market today and interests representing the West Indies were credited with taking an amount equivalent to 500,000 bushels of top grade wheat.

Other transactions included the sale of 300,000 bushels of Nos. 1 and 2 northern to the United Kingdom and 200,000 of assorted grades to the United States Commodity Credit Corporation.

CHICAGO (AP)—Selling of May rye by prominent commission houses unsettled all grains today. Shortly after the opening May rye advanced to a new three-month top, but the trend was quickly reversed and the delivery dropped about 2 cents from the early peak. Other rye contracts also showed fairly wide losses.

Wheat and oats were steady at the start, but then turned lower when the weakness developed in rye. Reports from Fort William, Canada, said stocks of wheat there had declined substantially.

Effective Immediately

• Within the past few weeks our production of civilian clothing has fallen farther and farther behind schedule, due to several factors. Among them: Production of vital war goods which our customers realize must come first; manpower shortages; material shortages. We are continuing to give the type of service you have always received from us up to the limit of our ability under present conditions, but we can do no more at present than we have already done. However, in fairness to our customers themselves and to our plant and store employees who must have an opportunity to catch up with their work, we make this announcement.
